CINCINNATI (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines four-engine jet, pressed into service when a sister plane developed a malfunction, crashed in an apple orchard while on a landing approach to the Greater Cincinnati Airport Monday night. Sixty-two of the 79 persons aboard were believed to have been killed.

The plane, a Convair 880, crashed in Hebron, Ky., six miles south and across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Survivors were taken to St. Elizabeth's General Hospital and Booth Hospital in Covington, Ky.

SMALL CHILDREN

There were three at Booth, all in serious condition.

Ralph Kinross, assistant administrator at St. Elizabeth's, said 17 persons were taken there from the crash. He said three died after admission and the others were in serious condition. The survivors included a five-year-old boy and two infant girls, one aged two, the other 15 months.

The craft was TWA flight 128 non-stop from Los Angeles to Cincinnati and carried 72 passengers and a crew of seven. It crashed on the farm of B. S. Wagner, a short distance from where an American Air-Continued on Page 2

Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Four American sailors who deserted the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid last month in Japan turned up in Moscow Monday and appeared on Soviet television to denounce American involvement in Vietnam.

The four were identified as Craig William Anderson, San Jose, Calif.; John Michael Barilla, Catonsville, Md.; Richard D. Bailey, Jacksonville, Fla., and Michael A. Lindner, Mount Pocono, Pa.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the four travelled from Tokyo to Moscow to "prove that there are real Americans, with a high sense of moral responsibility who are also against the war."

'REMOVE TROOPS'

Barilla said he and Lindner had both joined the navy because they wanted to avoid the draft.

Bailey told the Moscow television audience that "if the Americans want peace in Vietnam, they could simply remove their troops and equipment and let the Vietnamese people govern themselves."

Bailey said the American troops don't even know who their enemies are in Vietnam. And he said the Americans are making more enemies every day.

Stanfield and Douglas Press House Tests

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield made his debut as a Commons orator Monday with a 65-minute attack on government economic policies.

In his typically quiet-spoken way, the new Conservative chief accused the Liberal government of economic mismanagement, saying it had lost the capacity to shape long-term policies and could only react to events as they happen.

TAX INCREASE

"Surely there is some more civilized way of controlling inflation" than by raising taxes, he said.

NDP Leader Douglas followed with his own motion of no-confidence and joined in the attack on Finance Minister Sharp's announced plan to impose temporary tax increases later this month.

VOTE TONIGHT

The two motions came at the opening of a two-day supply debate which quickly shaped up as a debate on the economy, set against the background of the impending tax increases, questions over the future of medical care insurance and Britain's weekend devaluation of the pound. Both motions will be voted on tonight.

Mr. Sharp responded to the attacks Monday evening with an appeal to Mr. Stanfield to support the "hard decisions" the government has to face for the good of the economy.

'GROWTH ENDANGERED'

He said it was policies similar to those advocated by the NDP that had made it necessary for Britain to devalue the pound.

Mr. Stanfield's non-confidence motion declared that the Commons "regrets that the mismanagement by this government has endangered the rate of economic growth, the prospects of a satisfactory level of employment, and the ability of individual Canadians to meet their own commitments."

The NDP motion, among other things, called on the government to establish an investment board to set priorities for public and private investment.

Hijacking

Plane Lands In Cuba

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The pilot of a twin-engine plane chartered for a flight to the Bahamas was forced into Communist Cuba Monday by an armed passenger he described as a Russian.

"This man is armed and he intends to take this plane to Havana," the pilot, J. V. Raymond of Pompano Beach, radioed shortly after take-off from Hollywood.

'COLLECTING WIFE'

The message was received by the Federal Aviation Administration at Miami as Raymond was flying southward toward the Florida Straits. The FAA reported the plane's arrival in Havana.

George Nesmith of Crescent Airways in Hollywood said the Piper Apache 23 was rented by a man who identified himself as Felix S. Marlay and said he wanted to go to Bimini, 60 miles east of Miami, to pick up his wife.

FIGHTERS TURN OFF

"Two fighter jets from Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami were scrambled up to head off the plane but fell back when the hijacker went on the radio and warned he would kill the pilot and co-pilot Jeff White if the interceptors did not get off his tail."

A spokesman for the Swiss Embassy in Havana said later the American flyers were unarmed and probably would return to the United States today. The Swiss, who act for the United States in such matters in Havana, said they had been notified of the plane's arrival by the Cuban Foreign Ministry but declined to give further details.

Refugee Camp Shelled

Victoria Trio Arrested

GOLDEN, B.C. (CP) — Three young Victorians are under arrest here in connection with the reported abduction of a Calgary man Sunday at knife-point.

Floyd Yeats, 46, of Calgary, told police the three jumped into his car outside a church and forced him to drive to the B.C. border.

Near Golden he jumped from the moving car as it slowed for a turn, suffering only minor cuts and scratches. The car was found abandoned 14 miles west of here.

Charged with robbery and awaiting return to Calgary are Barry J. Cragg, 23; Wesley L. Brahm, 19, and Melvin J. Cardy, 18.

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Israeli tanks and artillery shelled a Jordanian refugee camp for more than an hour Monday, killing 14 persons and wounding 28 others, a Jordan military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said three children were among those killed in the shelling of the Karami refugee camp on the east bank of the Jordan River. Among the wounded were seven children and three women, he said.

An Israeli army spokesman announced in Jerusalem that an Israeli soldier was injured Monday when an army command car ran over a mine planted on a dusty road 1.5 miles south of Um Short.

Diaper Service Foils Robbers

No Sweet Smell of Success

MONTREAL (CP) — It was enough to make criminals give up crime.

As police told it Monday, weekend safe-crackers broke into the midtown Wee Folks Diaper Service and faced a chain of straight bad luck.

Once in, they found the watchman still on duty and had to hide in a cold shed of dirty diapers. When the watchman left, they made their way down a chute of dirty diapers and found themselves in the wrong part of the premises.

So, police said, they knocked out a wall with sledgehammers to get into the office area.

But they could not crack the safe. It was hauled to one truck in the garage, but the truck wouldn't start. Then it was hauled to another, and that one wouldn't start either.

In a final effort, they dragged the safe to the garage door where, it seems, they just gave up. And they were too tired to take their safe-cracking tools with them.

Police said the safe contained "very little."

Labor Under Fire While Britons Weigh Mini-Pound

LONDON (CP) — The Labor government came under sharp attack Monday as Britons started to size up the pocketbook of the cut-price pound. Shopkeepers warned that prices will rise though some suggested the big boosts won't come until after Christmas.

In the Commons, Prime Minister Wilson and James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, were treated to noisy jeers, mainly from Conservative Opposition benches where cries of "resign, resign, resign" preceded Callaghan's defence of his actions.

The minister predicted domestic prosperity by 1969. "Jam tomorrow" cried out

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the new prices would go into effect as soon as the new list is drawn up and approved by the cabinet, possibly today.

Imported gins, rums, liquors, some wines and beers and ales from Britain are included in categories where price cuts are anticipated.

Orange Dealers Fined $98,500

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fines totalling $98,500 were imposed Monday on 10 companies convicted in September of conspiring to unduly lessen competition in the Mandarin orange trade.

The companies had pleaded not guilty to the charge, laid under the Federal Combines Act, Mr. Justice J. G. Gould of the B.C. Supreme Court imposed the fines.

The heaviest penalties, $18,000 each, were levied against Kelly Douglas and Company Ltd., and W. H. Malkin Ltd., two firms with previous convictions in 1955.

LESSEER AMOUNTS
Fines of $10,000 each were imposed on Consolidated Fruit Co. Ltd., Slade and Stewart Ltd., and Dominion Fruit Co. Ltd.

Canada Safeway Ltd., Macdonald's Consolidated Ltd. and David McNair and Co. Ltd. were fined $7,500 each. Fines of $5,000 each were imposed on Chess Brothers Ltd. and Birks Crawford Ltd., an eastern firm which the court said was near insolvency.

Mr. Justice Gould said when he found the firms guilty that although they had engaged in a conspiracy, their conduct in controlling the Mandarin orange trade was eminently sensible.

VMD Workers Again Head List

Christmas is just five weeks away, and in most Victoria homes, Christmas preparations are already in progress. Cakes, puddings and shortbread are melting on the topmost shelf, and immigrants with families overseas have mailed their gifts back home.

At Victoria Machinery Depot, it's a long-standing tradition to be first with one particular pre-Christmas gift, and that's why when the mail arrived at the Colonist office Monday morning, the annual donation from the Employees' Community Welfare Fund was there to be first on the list for this year's Colonist 500 Fund.

This is the 11th year that The Daily Colonist has acted as an agency to make the festive season a happier one for destitute families, for whom Christmas preparations are part of another world.

Four other donations were received on the opening day, and were added to money received after the appeal closed last year, and held over for this year's fund, to produce a first-day total of $677.37.

Donations can be brought in personally to the Colonist office, or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria. If more convenient, donations may also be left at the Avis Rent-A-Car office, 800 Douglas Street.

New Zealand Chops Dollar

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake today announced a 19.4 per cent devaluation in the New Zealand dollar. The move followed British devaluation by 14.3 per cent Saturday.

and to eliminate the pegged exchange rate for the dollar.

Mr. Stanfield's speech stressed what he called the lack of credibility of the government.

Mr. Stanfield said the fiscal policies of the Pearson government are not decided in relation to the actual needs of the economy, but in relation to the conflicting demands of ministers and their departments.

lines Boeing 727 crashed Nov. 8, 1965, killing 58 persons.

A TWA spokesman said the flight left Los Angeles 2 hours late when the original plane, also a Convair 880, developed a malfunction in a cabin door. Passengers were transferred to the second plane, which arrived on a flight from Boston.

"Trees were cut off like someone had gone through them with a chain saw," said Edwin Walton, a neighbor of Wagner and one of the first on the scene.

Walton helped rescue "six or seven people." He said bodies were strewn about the orchard, many of them with their clothes torn off. He said the plane nearly disintegrated.

"Everything was gone except the tail section," he said. Walton said: "The first survivor I saw was leaning against a fence. He told me, 'My eyeballs are burned. I can't see.' He kept asking, 'Were we landing or were we leaving?' I told him he was landing and he said, 'She wasn't on the plane.' "He was able to walk but kept apologizing for being weak," he said.

"I've never seen a plane so completely destroyed," Walton added. "Seats were thrown all over the place. There was nothing you could identify as wings. It hit a clump of large trees and struck with such force that it uprooted a tree about three feet in diameter and carried it 100 feet away."

Walton, who witnessed the American Airlines crash two years ago, said he saw two stewardesses, a man and a small boy flung clear of the wreckage and apparently not hurt badly. He said he watched in amazement as the four walked about 250 yards to a farmhouse to call for help and wait for an ambulance.

Chance Plays Larger Part Than Father in Baby's Sex

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that the father determines the sex of a baby? — L.Z.

No, except in the vaguest possible way.

This question has been asked often enough to warrant an explanation.

The normal human cell contains 46 chromosomes, arranged in 23 pairs. One pair of chromosomes determines sex. In the female, it is a pair of X chromosomes, in the male, the corresponding pair consists of an X and a Y. (They are so designated because of the apparent shape of these chromosomes as seen under high magnification.)

A baby is conceived when a male sperm penetrates a female ovum. These cells — sperm and ovum — are different from all other cells in the body in that each has only 23 chromosomes instead of 46 — that is, each has only one chromosome of each pair.

Then, when the two cells unite, each contributes 23 chromosomes, or a total of 46, which arrange themselves into the regulation 23 pairs.

Since the normal female cell has two X chromosomes, the ovum, which takes only half of each pair, is bound to have an X chromosome in the sex-determining position.

But since the male pair is always an X and a Y, the sperm must have either an X or a Y in the corresponding position.

If the ovum (always containing an X, of course) is penetrated by a sperm with an X chromosome, the baby will be a girl, with the XX pairing.

If the sperm penetrating the ovum has a Y chromosome, then the pairing will be XY, and the baby will be a boy.

SMALL EXTENT

Only to that extent does the father determine the sex of the baby. There isn't anything the father can do about it. He produces millions of spermatozoa, and approximately half will be X type and half Y type. Sheer chance (so far as we can tell) is mainly responsible in determining whether an X cell or a Y cell will penetrate the ovum.

Labor Under Fire

the government call a general election. The government would not do so, he said, as long as it commands a majority in the House. His own immediate responsibility, he said, is to make devaluation succeed.

Callaghan emphasized that for at least the next two years, Britain must be prepared to channel their domestic resources mainly toward the exports drive. There would be no expansion of the domestic consumer market until 1969.

FIRST HURDLE

But he maintained the outlook appeared good. The pound had jumped its first hurdle successfully. There had been no wave of devaluations by other top traders. This gave Britain an advantage in exports that it could not afford to fritter away through higher prices and wages. But he conceded that some prices will rise.

The Tories held their full fire until the start of the economic debate today in the Commons. But Edward Heath, Conservative leader, went on television to answer Wilson's broadcast Sunday night. He reminded the nation of Wilson's pledges not to devalue. He said he made the pledges 20 times in 37 months of office.

'RUINED AFFLUENCE'

He said the Labor government had thrown away the confidence and ruined the affluence the Conservatives had built up in office.

Meanwhile, shopkeepers, manufacturers and exporters were looking over prospects and some didn't like what they saw. Britain imports about one-half its food and most items will cost more.

"The public must be made aware that the fine words of the prime minister cannot prevent rising prices," said the National Chamber of Trade which represents the shopkeepers.

NO MAGIC WAND

A spokesman for automobile manufacturers said devaluation by itself is not a magic wand which automatically increases exports. Other factors were involved.

Car-makers are angry because Callaghan put a squeeze on instalment sales, cutting the domestic market on which production mainly is based.

Other spokesmen said higher prices are likely for tobacco, imported wines, oil and countless other items used by Britons at home or in industries that feed other markets.

"The advantage of devaluation is that it sharpens our competitive edge and from now on it will be markedly cheaper for overseas buyers to buy our exports," said Callaghan.

Repercussions of the new devaluation continued to be felt around the world. Stock markets in major countries fell sharply at openings, with most stocks down except gold shares, which rose.

London's markets were closed. But gold trading is expected to be heavy when they reopen today, because the devaluation has created currency fears, dealers said.

When Britain devalued the pound in 1949, stocks around the world fell but soon came back.

Meanwhile informed government sources said Britain will stand by its £1,000,000,000 order for U.S. military aircraft despite its post-devaluation drive for a £100,000,000 cut in defence spending in the coming year.

Officials said cuts in the U.S. contracts would involve Britain in heavy cancellation costs. In any case, the new planes are needed as replacements for obsolete aircraft.

Soviet Move Halts Vote in Mideast

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Russia Monday put before the Security Council a resolution urging immediate withdrawal of Israeli forces to positions they held before last June's war.

Soviet deputy foreign minister Vasily Kuznetsov's move appeared to end hopes of a quick conclusion of the council's current debate on the Middle East.

The council agreed to recess until Wednesday afternoon, when a vote is expected.

It was a sharper blow to Israel than a British resolution on which the council had hoped to vote Monday. The British measure called for Israel's withdrawal from "territories occupied in the recent conflict" but did not specify positions to which the troops must withdraw.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg immediately rejected the Soviet resolution as not being "even-handed" and announced that the United States, while agreeing to delay the eventual showdown, would vote for Britain's resolution.

The Soviet resolution urged "immediate withdrawal by the parties to positions occupied before June 5," the day the war began. Although the resolution appeared aimed at both the Arabs and Israel, it actually applied only to Israel since the Arabs took no territory.

Kuznetsov said he understood that the council members, "as is the usual case, will need time to study this draft resolution, especially since it deals with such an important and complex problem."

Customarily, a resolution is not voted upon until 24 hours after it is introduced into the council. Bulgaria prevented a vote last Friday on Britain's resolution, pleading the necessity of time for study and instructions from delegations' foreign offices.

The Soviet resolution called for an end to the Arab-maintained state of belligerency against Israel, settlement of the Palestine refugee question, freedom of navigation in international waterways "in accordance with international agreements" and outlawing the threat or use of force in the Middle East.

Cambodia Backs Reds

China Finds Ally

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Cambodian Ambassador Huot Sambath opened the annual United Nations debate on the setting of mainland China by telling the General Assembly Monday that "international agreements can not be reached without representation of China, a nuclear power."

"The Chinese people like any other people, are perfectly entitled to adopt the political system of their choice," he said.

The question was not whether to admit China to the United Nations but to decide who represents the 750,000,000 Chinese on the mainland, he added.

OTHER SPEAKERS

He said a simple majority vote, rather than the two-thirds majority vote sought by 14 countries led by the United States, is all that is needed for council action. Sambath called for the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations and the seating of Peking's representatives.

The other speakers on the question Monday—Nationalist China, Japan, and The Philippines—opposed seating Peking.

Nationalist Foreign Minister Wei tao-Ming, whose Formosa Island republic has a population of 12,000,000, rejected the idea that Peking has the support of the people of mainland China.

He said only five of the 26 mainland provinces "remain under Peking's active control."

Rafael Molina-Urena of the Dominican Republic, presided.

The China debate is to resume today and a vote is expected Friday on a resolution by Cambodia and nine non-aligned and Communist countries seeking to substitute Communist China for Nationalist Chinese delegates in the United Nations and all related organizations.

Paratroops Fight Through To Surrounded Battalion

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Army paratroops fought through thick jungle Monday to break an onslaught by North Vietnamese regulars surrounding an American battalion near Dak To in South Vietnam's central highlands.

American casualties were feared high in the 24-hour fight two miles from Cambodia's border.

A huge explosion ripped the perimeter of the trapped battalion at one point. Sharp Communist fire kept rescue helicopters from picking up American dead and wounded. Exact casualty figures were not available.

A Hanoi broadcast said U.S. planes bombed the Hanoi-Haiphong area Monday for the sixth consecutive day and that strikes also were made in outlying provinces. The broadcast claimed two planes were shot down over Hanoi, three over Haiphong and six in the provinces. There was no confirmation from the U.S. command.

American commanders suspect the Communist strategy at Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, is to draw large U.S. forces out of heavily-populated areas, where they aid pacification work, and make them fight in the sparsely-populated mountains.

The North Vietnamese achieved this in September with their big gun attacks across the zone between the Vietnamese. U.S. commanders were forced to pull troops out of the highland to back up troops in the northern 1st Corps area of South Vietnam.

In Da Nang, government officials announced Monday the Quaker sailing yacht Phoenix, carrying $5,250 worth of medical supplies from Hong Kong to Da Nang for the South Vietnamese Red Cross, will not be permitted to dock or unload the supplies.

No reason was given for the decision. The Phoenix defied the U.S. state department last spring and took $10,000 worth of medical supplies to the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong. There had been doubts that the South Vietnamese would let the Phoenix dock because the pacifists had dealt with the North Vietnamese.

Lie Charge Riles British Tempers

LONDON (AP) — A Labor MP charged during an angry scene in the House of Commons Monday that President Johnson lied when he said American bombing of North Vietnam was confined to military targets.

David Winnick refused to withdraw his remark despite a reprimand by Speaker Dr. Horace King, and shouts of "withdraw" from opposition Conservatives.

Winnick also demanded that the Labor government formally dissociate itself from U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The exchange came during questioning of Foreign Secretary George Brown on events in Vietnam.

In reply, Brown said the British government was not associated with "the terror in the North or in the South."

"What we are concerned about is to bring the whole bloody war to an early end so that talks can take place."

By Greek-Cypriots Terror Trips Anger Turks

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Turkey charged Monday that Greek-Cypriots are terrorizing Turkish-Cypriots by forays with armed patrols on the stricken Mediterranean island.

Turkish students recruited volunteers to fight against the Greeks in Cyprus.

In Athens, the ruling military regime installed a moderate civilian diplomat-politician, Panayotis Pipinella, as the new Greek foreign minister. Pipinella has long supported stronger Greek ties with Turkey and observers saw his appointment as a friendly gesture towards Turkey.

Turkish foreign minister Caglayangil said Greek-Cypriots had established security posts in two Turkish-Cypriot villages and were terrorizing the Turks with armed patrols. The minister said sporadic fighting was still going on throughout Cyprus.

Caglayangil apparently was referring to the towns of Kipiniou and Ayios Theodoros where attacks by Greek-Cypriot National Guard units last Wednesday touched off four days of fighting and brought Greece and Turkey to the brink of war.

The National Turkish Students' Association announced Monday it was launching a recruiting drive for volunteers to fight side-by-side with Turkish-Cypriots against the Greeks on the island.

At Izmir, where U.S. forces maintain an American military base, nearly 30,000 persons demonstrated in favor of Turkish intervention in Cyprus.

Britain and Egypt Bury the Hatchet

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Egypt announced Sunday the restoration of diplomatic ties after a 23-month break.

Sir Harold Beeley was reported chosen as new British ambassador in Cairo.

A Foreign Office statement said Britain's relations with President Nasser's United Arab Republic will be resumed "in the first half of December."

The U.A.R. and Guinea and several other African states broke with Britain in December, 1965, in protest against the way the British were handling the Rhodesia rebellion. Moves for a resumption of relations with Guinea now are under way.

The Sudan was among some Arab states which broke ties with Britain over the Arab-Israeli war last June. Here again an early resumption of relations is expected.

Beeley, who has served before as ambassador in Cairo, has a pro-Arab reputation in most Middle East capitals. He is known to have Nasser's confidence.

Collapse of a Theory

THE BELIEF THAT socialism can flourish in a capitalist society took another serious knock at the weekend when Britain devalued its pound from $2.80 to $2.40 in U.S. funds.

On the three occasions when Britain has been forced into this ignominious situation, the Labor Party has been in office, and for what it is worth the assumption is that they have not been able to put their London School of Economics theories to work successfully.

On the other hand it could be said that the Labor Party is a party which gets its best support when things are bad, and that it has been that misfortune rather than their own mismanagement which has made devaluation necessary.

Yet it is true that the present British government has done little to create incentive. The great freeze on wages, prices and profits resulted in a year of stagnation—loss of effort by management and strikes by the workers.

More recently the government has been easing its controls in the hope of boosting its export drive, but it has still been concentrating too much time and money on the useless things—such as renationalization of the steel industry—to create any foreign confidence in the country and its leaders.

Wilson now goes into the bag of economic failures along with Ramsay MacDonald (devalued in 1931) and Clement Attlee (devalued in 1949). What makes it worse for the incumbent is that he won his way to power with "no devaluation" as a main party plank.

To Wilson's credit is the fact he has done all he could to stall the evil hour, and his influence would no doubt be brought to bear to make this the minimal devaluation.

Yet the fact remains that Britain has done nothing more than win a little time to get its financial house in order. Unless the government is able to bring its international trade into balance, no cure will have been effected.

Already two important sterling countries—South Africa and Australia—have declined to devalue, but others have done so, or are contemplating making the change.

For the North American continent, the devaluation could bring a new exodus of capital, and this has already been anticipated by the increase of prime lending rates. The Bank of Canada's bank rate has been raised from 5 per cent to 6 per cent as a precautionary measure, and 6 per cent has been announced as the prime rate for a number of leading U.S. lending institutions.

The worst sufferers locally are those who have money "blocked" in Britain. For them the only compensation must be that the amount of the devaluation was not greater.

South Africa's View

THE APPARENT failure of British Commonwealth Secretary George Thomson and Premier Ian Smith to reach any kind of agreement which might lead to a settlement of the Rhodesian situation has given rise to considerable speculation that the illegal regime in Salisbury is being wholeheartedly supported by South Africa in its stubborn attitude.

Though such guesswork is understandably popular among the Afro-Asian members of the United Nations and with apologists for Prime Minister Wilson's handling of the affair, it does not stand up in the face of facts.

Only recently Prime Minister John Vorster of the Republic of South Africa bluntly rejected Mr. Smith's view that Britain has now ceased to have any responsibility over the affairs of Rhodesia.

"Our attitude to Rhodesia is clear," Mr. Vorster said. "It is the standpoint that was adopted by my predecessor and is still our standpoint now, namely, that we do not only regard it as a domestic issue but also a domestic issue to be settled by Rhodesia and Britain alone."

This statement, which significantly enough was issued shortly after a meeting between Mr. Vorster and Mr. Smith, should remove any suspicion that South Africa is egging on Rhodesia in its continuing defiance of Britain.

Mr. Vorster went on to say he believed the issue could be solved in an honorable way if there was goodwill on both sides. "I go further," he added. "It is my firm conviction that the stability and prosperity of southern Africa demands that this issue be solved. Not only that, but I want to make it plain that we have never taken sides on the merits of the situation. We have behaved correctly throughout this dispute and we have retained friendly relations with both Britain and Rhodesia and we intend acting like that in the future."

Mr. Vorster also made special reference to the existing close association between South Africa and Britain. South Africa and Britain, he said, were not only on a friendly footing but were also good trading partners and this relationship would continue for many years to come.

And just in case the illegal Rhodesian regime did not get the message, the South African prime minister said that it was his earnest wish that the Rhodesian issue would not be handled in such a way that it would lead to a confrontation with South Africa.

All of which seems hardly calculated to bring comfort and joy to Mr. Smith.

I would like to point out that on Oct. 21 of this year I had a grandson born in Charlottetown, P.E.I., and because of that, being down there with my wife, being the grandparents of the little boy, we are quite well aware of the little nursery rhyme, "Where did you come from, baby dear; Out of the everywhere into here."

I want to say to you as a member of Parliament that when I look at white papers, particularly the white paper on broadcasting, that was introduced more than a year ago, I have to reflect: "Where did you come from little white paper; I am the result of a cabinet caper." I cannot tell you where white papers come from. Their origin is beyond the comprehension of private members and individual members of the House of Commons. They just appear out of the everywhere.

Hong Kong Able to Cope

Colony on a Population H-Bomb

By GUY BEARLE from Hong Kong

WERE population explosions measured in the same way as nuclear explosions, Hong Kong would be in an unprecedented super-megaton range. From an estimated 600,000 inhabitants at the end of the Second World War, Hong Kong's population reached a figure of 3,834,000 this year. The calculation in June indicates a gain of 100,000 over the same time last year.

What makes this all the more incredible is that only 62 square miles in Hong Kong are considered habitable by normal standards. The 1966 Britannica Book of the Year comments that if the entire world's population were housed in the same density as Hong Kong, every living soul on earth could be fitted into a circle with a radius of less than 75 miles!

Despite this, Hong Kong has coped with its population influx with amazing ease. But the scope of the problem would stagger most urban planners.

During the past decade, Hong Kong has maintained the highest housing construction rate per capita in the entire world. Housing, however, is just part of the picture. Public utilities, urban services, commerce and industry, hospitals, schools and every other facet of a modern urban centre have had to expand in proportion.

Last year, 60 new schools or expansions of existing schools were opened to provide room for 59,000 new students. And although the figure seems large, it was actually a drop over previous years. For several years running, Hong Kong opened an average of three new schools per week.

The major expansion of facilities in Hong Kong did not actually start until 1954. Because of its peculiar position on the edge of China, Hong Kong has experienced many radical fluctuations of population. Natural disasters or wars in China have always brought an influx of people fleeing to the British colony. Usually, however, the refugees return to China when conditions stabilize.

In the immediate post-war years, with civil war raging in China, more than 1,500,000 Chinese fled to Hong Kong. When the Communists came to power on the mainland, hundreds of thousands more streamed across the border. For a long time, Hong Kong authorities bided their time, waiting for the usual exodus to begin.

It was only when a fire swept through a squatter area on Christmas Day, 1953, leaving some 50,000 people homeless, that Hong Kong realized that the new emigrants were not planning to leave. Since that time, 22 massive resettlement estates have been built, and more are under construction. On Oct. 26, the millionth person moved into a government resettlement building. The cost, over £40 million, has all been met by local funds. Private capital has done even more, and the entire colony has been so completely rebuilt since the early 1950s that returning old-time residents do not even recognize the place.

Fortunately for Hong Kong, many of the people who fled to the colony brought both capital and skills with them. Industrial growth has been the highest in the world, and despite recent political troubles in the colony, trade has continued to increase. Since 1952, Hong Kong has tried to stem the flow of emigration from China. Despite efforts in the initial years, thousands managed to sneak in. Following a massive influx in 1962 toward the end of the Great Leap Forward debacle in China, both Hong Kong and China increased efforts to cut off the flow. It was further reduced this year when the Portuguese in nearby Macao stopped giving sanctuary to refugees. Previously, a major portion of the emigrants first made it to Macao, and then smuggled themselves across the Pearl River Estuary into Hong Kong.

There has been fear that the upsets of the Cultural Revolution in China would bring another rush to the Hong Kong border, but so far it has not materialized. There have been rumors of large numbers trying to reach Hong Kong, but of being stopped by the People's Liberation Army. As a precaution, the Hong Kong government has built a second fence some distance back from the border which it is hoped will contain any mass attempts to infiltrate the colony.

Family planning also has been pushed on a large scale as a method of keeping the population from expanding further. Some 60 family planning clinics operate in various neighborhoods of Hong Kong, and the public acceptance has been good. In 1965, the natural increase in population in Hong Kong based on births over deaths, was 84,574. Last year it dropped to 77,200, and this year may drop by another 10,000.

Some sociologists, however, are warning that the decrease may not be entirely due to family planning. They point out that there were fewer Chinese births in the troubled years at the end of the war so that there are now less women entering the normal birth-span years of the early-20 age group. They predict that a radical upward trend may develop in another two or three years.

To the Chinese, who make up 98 per cent of Hong Kong's population, large families have been a traditional form of social security. A couple with many children can be assured of ample support in old age.

But social conditions are changing. Servants, once in ample supply, are now difficult to find—a industry offers better wages and conditions. And few mothers want to take on the chores of a large family unless outside help is assured.

The industrialization of Hong Kong also has brought with it a growing middle-class—previously almost unknown in a Chinese society. And the middle-class is adopting Western methods of providing for the future. Bank deposits and savings accounts are at a record level and insurance companies are doing a booming business. Investment in real estate has become common among the middle-class, whereas before it was almost entirely confined to the rich.

Despite its crowding and strained conditions, Hong Kong is destined to continue to experience population growth. Officials estimate the rate will level at 3½ per cent a year. But the growth will be small compared with what the colony has managed to absorb in the past—and the future social patterns will continue to adjust.

Threat to Missions

By CECIL NORTHCOTT from London

A WORLD-wide threat to the future of Christian missions is causing serious concern to church leaders.

The last missionaries left China in 1949 and Burma in 1965. But the threat to missionaries is now growing in India where the government is refusing to grant entry visas for new missionaries from Europe and North America unless they hold higher qualifications in medicine, agriculture or education.

In 1955 the Indian government declared that its policy towards foreign missionaries would be that additions or replacement missionaries would be permitted only if the applicants possessed exceptional qualifications. Missionaries already in the country could obtain "no objection to return" endorsements on their visas.

But recently the home ministry of the Indian government has been rejecting the majority of applications for re-entry, or causing immense delay in granting permission.

No new centres of mission activity can be opened in India without the consent of the local state administration and the government of India. A close scrutiny of missionary activity is being maintained with particular attention being given to evangelistic and pastoral missionaries who are often accused of proselytising, and of being "spies of Western imperialism."

Medical missionaries have been allowed to remain but not all of them. No reasons have been given for the refusal of entry permits. Particular suspicion is attached to American missionaries, but this suspicion now attaches to both British and Commonwealth missionaries as well.

Processions of protest composed entirely of Indian Christians have been marching through the streets of Calcutta recently in order to demonstrate that the Indian church still wishes for missionary cooperation. Many of the leading hospitals and colleges of India are still dependent for efficient staffing on recruits from Europe and North America.

Mission authorities in London and New York believe that the anti-missionary movement is part of the anti-Western, anti-Christian mood of India. In future they plan to recruit mainly trained specialists for theological teaching, agriculture, social work, medicine and education.

Canada and the United States

Like Poland, Limited Independence

By PHILIP DEANE

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister Paul Martin is right to compare Canada with Poland, as he has just done; we have a relationship with the United States analogous in many respects to that Poland has with the Soviet Union. We are independent only in so far as moral judgments are concerned; we are not independent in carrying a political course in accordance with those political judgments.

It is not even clear that a majority of Canadians—excepting the young—really object morally to U.S. policy in Vietnam. Many of our external affairs officials see things very much the way the U.S. state department sees them; this may be less a question of reasoned agreement than of affinity.

Canadians, English speaking Canadians at any rate, are very similar to the American people of other nationalities can hardly tell us apart from our southern neighbors. We have the same habits, hobbies and educational system. On the unconscious level, their diplomats and ours have an immediate understanding that transcends any formal agreements. In short, this identity is so close, that many of our diplomats actually feel the pain their American counterparts would suffer over a defeat or humiliation in Vietnam and this sort of instinctive relationship is stronger than moral argument, apparently.

Which of course does not minimize our moral objections to U.S. policy nor eliminate our need to voice such objections. It makes the weaker members of a family feel good to criticize the stronger, but the dominant word in this sentence is "family."

Big brother south of the border provides our defence, should we ever need a defence, which is not very certain. In any case, big brother, for the sake of his own defence, would demand the use of our territory. As Mr. Martin said, our options are to make some contribution to bomber defence "or to give the United States freedom to defend North America, including the

Legality of War

U.S. High Court Sidesteps Issue

By RONALD J. OSTROW from Washington

THE U.S. Supreme Court repeatedly has refused to consider the legality of the Vietnam war, and for good reasons. It shows the justices appreciate the court's own turbulent history and contemporary political realities.

Measured by either standard, the court could do much harm and very little good by agreeing to hear arguments that the war violated international treaties and the U.S. constitution.

If it did listen to such appeals, history strongly suggests the court would side with the executive branch and rule that President Johnson's war actions have not violated the constitution.

Enlightening the court as another forum to debate the war, which already is being argued everywhere from the ballot box in San Francisco to the halls of Congress, could only intensify the fight.

Even if the high court ran counter to history and outlawed the war, what would result?

What immediately comes to mind is the quote attributed to President Andrew Jackson when he took issue with an Indian lands ruling of Chief Justice John Marshall.

"John Marshall has made his decision. Now let him enforce it," Jackson said, refusing to dispatch federal troops to safeguard the rights that Marshall said the Indians had.

What would be the political reaction to a court decision declaring the war illegal? Or before that, to just an agreement by the court to hear arguments?

Judged by Congress' reaction to the "one-man, one-vote" cases and the more controversial of the court's criminal law opinions, the reaction would be without parallel in our time. In this case, the executive branch could well join in the legislative branch's hostility toward the judicial branch.

Already there is a move afoot to curb the court's power. Critics want to block the court from uprooting certain state criminal convictions. As of now it is given scant chance, though it has the blessing of a senate judiciary subcommittee. But the catalyst of an anti-war ruling could unleash harsh retaliatory moves by Congress limiting the power of the court.

While the court has sidestepped the war question, one member and the wife of another have taken public positions on the conflict. To some eyes, this may make the court's unwillingness to hear the issue all the more confusing, especially because of the tradition that the justices do not become embroiled in off-the-bench controversy.

In a little noticed but remarkable speech last month, Justice Abe Fortas strongly backed President Johnson's Vietnam position.

Fortas, Mr. Johnson's first appointee to the court and a long-time adviser to the president, made the point that there is nothing new about domestic resistance to the United States' involvement in war.

"As we reflect upon this history of American behavior during wars," Fortas told a Philadelphia audience, "the moral, I think, is that the American president must have a stout heart and strong nerves. He must expect high-pitched criticism—rational and emotional. Regrettably, he cannot expect all of it to be either temperate or informed."

While much of the speech dealt with the need for law and order and the meaning of the first amendment's guarantee of free expression, Fortas had this to say about the Vietnam issue that has split the United States.

"I am sure that we will not take the easy course of retreating from the world. We will not fall into the pit of the neo-isolationists who deny that we, the only free nation with the capability to bear it, have a responsibility that does not end with our territorial limits."

On the other side of the question, Mrs. William O. Douglas took part in an anti-war march in April. Her husband, the court's most liberal member, has publicly favored U.S. recognition of Red China and its admission to the United Nations, certainly questions now related to Vietnam.

The question, of course, is not the views that a Supreme Court justice or his family may have about the war, but the propriety of their publicly stating them when the court is being urged to judge the war.

Certainly there's legal merit to hearing the arguments challenging the U.S. role in the conflict.

This was made especially clear earlier this month when Justice Potter Stewart disagreed with the court's refusal to weigh what he called "large and deeply troubling" questions presented by three army privates challenging their orders to go to Vietnam.

Stewart, an eloquent conservative, is not a man to leap over judicial terrain without first carefully surveying it.

Stressing that he was not "immutably even tentative views," Stewart died questions raised by the appeal which he said the court "should squarely face."

Is U.S. military activity in Vietnam the kind of war the constitution says Congress must declare?

If so, may the president constitutionally send soldiers there when Congress has declared no war? Do the nation's treaty obligations have any relevance to that question?

Is the constitutionality of the president's actions affected by Congress' Tonkin Bay resolution? Does the resolution cover present U.S. military operations in Vietnam?

If the president's authority under the resolution to commit troops is limited only by his discretion, does the resolution violate the constitution by delegating Congress' power to declare war?

Douglas also dissented and raised some questions of his own. But this was no surprise. He had been the sole dissenter in March when the court would not review the conviction of men who refused to report for induction on the grounds that the Vietnam war violated various international treaties.

The vote this month was 6-2 against taking the appeal by the three army privates. The affirmative vote of at least four justices is needed to accept a case.

How the ninth justice, Thurgood Marshall, felt is not known. He took no part in considering whether to hear the case because he signed the government's brief opposing review in his former capacity as solicitor general.

The issue is certain to be back. If Marshall turns out to favor hearing an attack on the legality of the war, there still could be one vote lacking. But because the justices threaten to accept behind closed doors, there's no knowing how firmly opposed are the other six justices.

History supports the view that the court would be likely to support the president, if the issue ever comes to a test.

During the Civil War, before Congress reauthorized the blockade, President Lincoln ordered a blockade of southern ports. The owners of four merchant ships that were seized and condemned as prizes of war challenged the action claiming Lincoln had overstepped his authority because Congress had not yet declared war.

An adverse decision by the court would have jeopardized other Lincoln actions. But the court ruled 5-4 in favor of the president, holding he had to react to the conflict "without waiting for Congress to baptize it with a name."

It was not until after the war ended that the court ruled Lincoln had acted unconstitutionally by suspending the very basic right of citizens to seek a writ of habeas corpus—an order to free a prisoner who is illegally held.

As recently as 1943 the high court unanimously upheld an executive exercise of wartime power—the night-time curfew for West Coast Japanese-Americans.

A year later three justices dissented as the court upheld an army order banning citizens of Japanese ancestry from the West Coast. Those affected included fewer children living in white homes and citizens with as little as one-sixteenth Japanese blood.

Viewed in the light of these decisions, the argument that the Vietnam war is a political and military question—not an issue for the court—is convincing.

Major Industrial Nations Pledge to Hold Currency Line

Britain Given a Fighting Chance

By United Press International
Britain found encouragement Monday in indications that no major nation would follow its devaluation example.

Even Australia, the world's largest holder of sterling outside Britain, announced it would not devalue.

All of Britain's big industrial competitors in Europe, along with the United States, Canada, Japan and South Africa, pledged to hold the line on their currencies.

For Britain, the reaction of other nations was vital in its fight to pull through one of the most serious monetary crises it has ever known.

If rival industrial nations and major trading partners do not devalue, Britain will gain by being able to undercut its competitors in world markets because sterling and the goods it can buy in Britain are now cheaper.

Other nations apparently were prepared to reel with the punch of British devaluation in order to ward off a major international currency slump that could drag them all into a replay of the 1930s depression.

Mindful that major devaluation could have pitched the finances of the whole world into a steep decline, Britain cheapened the pound by a comparatively moderate 14.3 per cent, which lowered its value from $2.80 to $2.40.

It was an amount which most major nations decided they could absorb without devaluations of their own.

Those nations which did devalue had little option. They included Denmark and Ireland, major food suppliers to Britain; Spain, Malta and Bermuda which earn much of their income by catering to British tourists; Hong Kong a British colony; Israel which reportedly had been considering devaluation for some time; Guyana and Fiji.

Portugal and New Zealand, whose economies are closely linked to Britain's, also were considering devaluation.

When Britain last devalued in 1949 almost the entire commonwealth and sterling area devalued along with much of Europe and a number of other nations throughout the world.

Shock waves from the weekend devaluation spread around the world, depressing stock markets and forcing governments large and small to take emergency measures for the protection of their economies.

The United States and Canada both increased their reserve rates, making money harder to borrow. This was an attempt to stop money flowing to London to take advantage of a massive eight per cent interest rate, the biggest since the Second World War.

The Tokyo stock exchange suffered its sharpest loss since the war under severe pressure from the devaluation and the American counter measure.

In Germany, the government pumped $1,500,000 million worth of buy orders into the government and industrial bond market to soak up a wave of selling touched off by the fall of the pound.

Most European markets were plunged into depression and uncertainty.

A huge demand for gold mining stocks in Paris produced a ban on deals in these shares to prevent wild speculation.

Major industrial nations, realizing the importance of strengthening Britain's ability to compete — and trade — with them, prepared to contribute massive loans in support of the pound.

Britain hoped to obtain $1,600,000,000 from the International Monetary Fund. British prime minister Harold Wilson pledged the money would be used as an emergency reserve and not to live on.

France backed the IMF loan but was not approached for the nation-to-nation aid.

Informed sources in London said President De Gaulle was demanding that Wilson make a humiliating pledge in parliament to repay any loan from France. Britain, instead, bypassed France and asked West Germany to double a loan of $2,000,000.

France earlier had refused a loan to back the pound at its pre-devaluation level.

Conditions Unacceptable

France Refuses To Lend a Hand

UPI from Paris

France's Gaullist government was reported Monday to have been so fiercely opposed to a new loan for Prime Minister Harold Wilson's save-the-pound program that London decided not to ask the French to lend money.

President de Gaulle, when informed in advance of the British economic recovery plan, expressed scepticism about the success of Wilson's moves on the ground it may not be tough enough.

The French would have taken part in an aid program only on conditions that would not have been acceptable to Britain.

As a result of the French hostility, Britain decided not to apply to the Bank of France to join other state banks in the massive $1,600,000,000 standby credit to bolster the pound against speculation.

France, a leading member of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) only reluctantly agreed to take part in the $1,400,000,000 credit for the recently-devalued pound. Unofficial sources said the French contribution to this loan will be about $120,000,000.

Some Gaullist quarters argued that Britain applied for the additional $1,600,000,000 "bridging loan" without any real need for it. They claimed it was a psychological measure chiefly designed to pin the difficulties of the pound on international speculation.

The strongly Gaullist evening paper Paris-Press called the Wilson bridging loan demand "a bluff," which France would not support.

Financial sources said France is hostile "in principle" to any medium and long-range backing of a nation's currency by state banks.

Paris reportedly would have joined other state banks on one major condition — that the pound cease functioning as an international reserve currency, a price Britain has rejected outright.

French foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville, left, and West German foreign minister Willy Brandt, put heads together before start of Monday's meeting in Brussels of European Council of Ministers. De Murville told meeting that French government was still opposed to even low-level talks on Britain's bid to join European Economic Community.

De Gaulle will comment on the pound crisis at his news conference Nov. 27.

The French business community, more preoccupied by economic facts than de Gaulle's trend designs, expressed fears the devaluation will give British goods a distinct edge over French products in world markets.

They are reported to have warned the government that French exporters will find it tougher to fight British competition in Britain and the 10 other countries which devalued their currency. French exports to these 11 countries amounted to 10.16 per cent of all French sales in 1966.

In 775 One Pound Was 240 Sterlings

The British pound sterling was originally one pound of silver.

About the year 775, silver coins known as sterlings were minted, and 240 of them weighed a pound. The British pound contains 240 pennies to this day—though now they're made of copper.

The pound was divided into 20 parts of 12 pennies each after the Norman conquest of 1066. These were known as shillings. The three denominations were known in medieval Latin as "denarius," or penny.

The curious crossed L-shaped sign for a pound comes from its Latin name, Libra.

The pound switched from silver to the gold standard in 1171. It stayed there until 1797, when inflationary finance needed for the Napoleonic wars knocked it off. The gold standard was restored in 1819.

The value of the pound fluctuated in the First World War until 1925, when Britain returned to the gold standard. The pound went off the gold standard in 1931.

Isolationists on Warpath

By MARVIN D. LIPTON

Will the United States, which has done so much to advance the cause of freer world trade, withdraw into a policy of protectionism or a beggar-thy-neighbor policy?

Despite President Johnson's firm assertion that trade restrictions bills "will not become law while I am president," Senator Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) predicted that Congress would pass "at least some" import quotas.

Canadian statesmen from the prime minister down are certainly not taking lightly the prospects of trade barriers being erected against Canadian and other foreign imports.

Some observers on the U.S. political scene play down the latest isolationist outburst and attribute it to a periodic malady that strikes Congress — a feeling that the executive branch is becoming too powerful and eroding the powers of Congress.

Others, less optimistic, predict a tough time for the Johnson administration in dealing with the growing opposition to protective barriers.

Democratic party discipline is in a bad state of disrepair and White House leadership is at a low ebb. Even Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, usually a staunch presidential supporter, contends that some further protection might be necessary for one or two segments of the U.S. economy.

The proposed bills would impose quotas to restrict the future growth of imports of steel, some textiles, petroleum, beef, dairy products, shoes, lead, zinc, potash and other products.

The value of these imports into the U.S. now runs at about $6,400,000,000 a year. The protectionist laws, however, were they forced through, would erect barriers in both directions.

The nations, upon which the new quotas would have a direct impact, would be almost certain to retaliate against Washington and block U.S. exports that would cost Americans about $10,000,000,000.

Trade wars, serious world trade problems now plague us. In the words of Prime Minister Lester Pearson, "The share of underdeveloped countries in world trade has been falling at the very time that the flow of aid funds has levelled off and, indeed, threatens to be reduced.

"In other words, the gap between the developed and underdeveloped countries is widening, instead of narrowing. Less trade and less aid could be catastrophic for all the world's nations."

The question of free trade has been the subject of a dispute between economists and businessmen ever since the 18th century. Generally speaking, economists are free traders and businessmen and politicians protectionists.

Both sides put forth persuasive arguments. Free trade enables the special resources of each nation to be used for the material benefit of all. Secondly, it permits the production of particular commodities in particular areas and allows us to enjoy the economies of large scale where they exist.

On the other hand, "defence is more important than opulence" as Adam Smith said, and specialization may make one nation very dependent on another economically. New industries, in many cases, would fold were it not for tariffs — taxes levied on competing imports.

Lastly, a highly specialized national economy does not grow as fast as one that is less specialized and which has a number of mutually complementary parts.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

● It is common knowledge that a large number of major U.S. industries and their congressional supporters are pushing restrictive imports. Is this in the interest of the "man in the street?"

● What would happen if Canada unilaterally cancelled its tariffs? Would this be good or bad?

Hospital Plan Drops Adventists

MLA Attacks Report

The Hospitals Planning Council will hold a special meeting this week to discuss an unnamed doctor's suggestion that St. Joseph's should run a new hospital which may be built on the Saanich Peninsula.

The published report, which also suggested that the administration of Resthaven Hospital in Sidney did not have enough experience to run a larger institution, has enraged many hospital officials.

John Tisdalle, MLA for Saanich and The Islands, described the suggestion as "switch-blade politics."

CALMNESS FLEA

Dr. Charles Hemmings, chairman of the planning council, said he hoped the report would be discussed calmly, either at a meeting of the entire council or its executive, possibly Thursday.

The doctor quoted in the report remained anonymous. He felt St. Joseph's should have the new hospital for acute care and convert its present downtown facilities to extended care only.

CARE CENTRE

There has been speculation that Agnew Peckham and Associates, who are making a study of Greater Victoria's long-range hospital needs, will recommend a third acute-care centre.

Mr. Tisdalle said he has it in writing from Eric Martin, the former minister of health, that the new hospital would be operated by the Seventh Day Adventist Church, which now administers Resthaven.

"QUITE A SHOCK"

He said it was "quite a shock" to hear speculation about the fate of the new hospital even before the Agnew

Peckham consultants decided whether one was needed.

"This is a plot to pre-sell a survey finding," said Mr. Tisdalle.

"This is a mean bit of carving up to question the ability of people of such long experience in hospitals," said Mr. Tisdalle, explaining that the Seventh Day Adventists operated large and progressive hospitals all over the world.

"It is switch-blade politics to pit the administration of one hospital against another."

T. J. Bradley, administrator of Resthaven said:

"We are prepared to operate the new hospital, if that is decided what's needed for Victoria. We have the backing of a very large fund of experience in hospitals."

BED NEEDS

Meanwhile, Dr. Harvey Agnew, head of the consulting firm, said he had made no recommendations about bed needs.

"We are still putting the information together for a report we expect to make next spring. We are not party to any speculation at this time about the future course of hospitals in Victoria."

Young Flying Novice Lands Three Prizes

An 18-year-old Victoria youth, who received his private pilot's licence only 16 months ago, has won three awards in the annual Bahamas Flying Treasure Hunt at Nassau.

Ken Parrett of 1708 Carnegie Crescent flew a four-seater Piper aircraft nearly a third of the way around the world in order to participate in the Caribbean flying classic event.

CASH WINNER

He was awarded the Flying Magazine Trophy and $115 worth of cash prizes by Bahamas Governor Sir Ralph Grey at a banquet Nov. 11 in Nassau.

The awards were for being the youngest pilot in the event; having the smallest plane among the 125 competing aircraft; and flying the longest distance to complete.

Between leaving Patricia Bay Airport Oct. 30 and returning Saturday, he covered about 8,000 miles and logged up 75 flying hours.

Accompanying the youth on the trip was his father, Roy, and Jeffrey Fraser, 20, of 1866

Forrester.

"They just came along for the ride, and I did all the flying," Ken said.

Friendly Talks Continue

VANCOUVER (CP) — Negotiations for a new contract are to continue today between craft unions and Pacific Press Ltd., which prints the Sun and Province newspapers.

Ed Benzon, company general manager, said Monday's bargaining was friendly and progress was made. Talks until Monday had primarily involved representatives of the International Typographical Union, although the printers union and stereotypers union were also involved.

UNION REQUEST

The company agreed Monday to a union request to begin negotiations on its contract with pressmen. Proposals for a pressmen's contract took up most of Monday afternoon's discussion and today's session is to continue on the same subject.

The unions served strike notice on the company Nov. 13 but have not announced a strike date.

NOTICE DELAY

The pressmen had not served strike notice pending a Dec. 4 court hearing on interpretation of a clause in their previous contract.

The Vancouver-New Westminster Newspaper Guild has also served strike notice. It has not resumed talks with the company since breaking off negotiations last Wednesday.

Too Many British Say Take It or Leave It

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

It is said Prime Minister Wilson could not stomach the restrictions which the international banks wanted to impose on a "save the pound" loan, and he chose as the alternative devaluation. The restrictions, not yet spelled out, must have been of the sort which would take control of international trading out of the hands of British economic policy, possibly to the degree that any normal lender makes conditions on an ordinary commercial loan. In view of the continued failure of British efforts to put their house in order, the tougher terms were understandable and certainly brought matters to a head.

At the same time, the Labor government's series of pledges that it would not devalue the pound must have made the final decision a hard one, for devaluation in itself is not a cure but is merely a palliative giving the patient a period of convalescence in which to pull back to strength.

SOME DOUBT

In international money circles there is some doubt whether the devaluation is big enough to be of great practical help. It certainly means a immediate steps must be taken in Britain to eliminate all luxury importing, and to visualize an export arm to its industry that will to how many countries in the sterling block would also devalue, there was little trading in international securities and commodities.

PRICE MATCH

The Winnipeg grain exchange was mixed, while several mineral exporters, including Alcan Aluminum Ltd., announced higher British prices to match revaluation of the pound. On the London metal market the price of copper, tin, lead and zinc advanced by roughly 14 per cent the amount of the devaluation.

Spot copper closed at $570 a long ton against $500 on Friday. Lead was up to $94½ from $84½ a long ton.

STOCKS DOWN

The few British stocks which trade on Canadian stock markets were marked down. Bank Organization A, a frequent trader at Toronto, was down about half a point from $5½ to $5 and Hudson's Bay Co. was off $1.75 at $20½.

The declines, however, were not much sharper than in the majority of Canadian and U.S. stocks, which opened weakly and then recovered during the day in a way to suggest British devaluation is not likely to upset normal commercial activity.

SUPPORT BIDS

The bond market acted similarly. Government bonds, both in Canada and the U.S., were initially marked down between one and two points, but there was practically no trading and the Bank of Canada put in support bids about one per cent below Friday levels to prevent excessive liquidation.

The increase in the Bank of Canada rediscount rate from 5 to 6 per cent was taken as a precautionary measure against an outflow of capital into sterling at its new rate. Some money market analysts believe higher rates by the chartered banks for commercial and other loans may result.

HIGH RATES

"Yet interest rates are already so high that any further escalation might defeat its own purpose," said one local investment dealer.

This dealer said the best thing investors could do is to sit on their hands for a day or two and wait for the storm to blow over.

"When Britain devalued the last time — and it was a much more severe devaluation in 1949 — the market was weak for a day or two and then recovered quite quickly," he said. "The action today, when the Toronto industrial was off three points in the first half but regained more than half of it by the close, would indicate the pattern is being followed."

CRISIS LEVEL

When the Foreign Exchange in Britain opens today it is expected the pound will operate in a trading range of $2.42, to $2.38 (U.S.).

Dealers in London expect the pound will be strong at this level and are anticipating an opening quotation of about $2.41, or one cent above parity.

With the Bank of England rate at the crisis level of 8 per cent an inflow of short-term money is expected in London.

LOSSES SMALL

The main consolation for investors in the ill-fated Bank of Western Canada is that they will get practically all their money back.

Bank president Tom Brown of Vancouver, in a letter to shareholders, said that, despite efforts by Canadian Finance and Investment Ltd. to have the bank's winding-up order reversed by a new meeting, the liquidation would proceed.

Brown said the chief victims of the abortive effort to bring the bank into operation were the skilled personnel which had been signed from other banks, and who had worked hard to get the bank off the ground.

LAFARGE EXPANDS

Lafarge Cement of North America Ltd., is to build a $12,000,000 cement manufacturing plant 11 miles east of Kamloops on the north side of the South Thompson River.

It will increase Lafarge's B.C. cement capacity to 4,700,000 barrels a year. The new plant capacity will be 1,200,000 barrels.

Construction will begin next year and the plant will be in production by 1969. It will use local raw materials, including gypsum from Invermere, electricity from B.C. Hydro and natural gas from Inland Gas.

SILVER DISCOVERY

A report by the company's engineer has been circulated to shareholders of Silverknife Mines Ltd. in which he indicates a silver-lead mining potential at the company's Silvertip claims near the Tootsee River, some 15 miles southeast of the Alaska Highway at Mile 701 and near the Yukon border.

Silverknife, whose registered office is in Victoria, has 112 claims. The engineer, C. B. Selmsier, advocates a surface stripping removal which would be stockpiled for milling. The removed material, mainly frozen talus, would provide 1,800,000 tons of ore averaging 75.11 ounces of silver, 38.6 per cent lead and 3 per cent zinc.

With a 500-ton-a-day mill, the stockpile would last for 12 years and at present values would average $264 a ton. The company hopes to get into production next year.

NEW COPPER PRICE

Noranda Sales Corp. says it will henceforth sell copper in Canada at the average price for export refinery copper as calculated monthly by the Electrical and Mining Journal.

The price will remain unchanged for the month. The November average is 59.96 cents (Canadian funds) and 47.431 cents (U.S. funds).

Penny, Cent Equal

For the first time in history, the British penny and the U.S. cent are equal in value. Devaluation puts the pound sterling at $2.40 in terms of the U.S. dollar and there are 240 pennies in the pound. Recently the penny has been worth about 1.15 cents U.S. and slightly more Canadian.

acknowledge the product that sells in Britain will not necessarily sell in Victoria, Toledo, Lima or Brisbane.

"You want to know what is wrong with British goods?" said one local clothing who specializes in British-made wear. "They make the best skirts in the world, but they refuse to make them with a breast pocket and they won't vary the arm length — two details that are a must in Canada."

EXPORTERS' ATTITUDE

This is only one of dozens of complaints lodged against what is described as the take-it-or-leave-it attitude adopted by too many British exporters.

On the local scene, the immediate repercussion to devaluation was shown Monday morning when the investment houses were more than usually patronized by anxious holders of sterling securities.

They did not learn much. With the British stock markets and banks closed, and doubt as

Rumors Start Inter-League Trading

By JACK HAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Who will be the Roger Maris and Mike McCormick of 1968?

The annual game of trying to steal prize ball players from the other major league opens Tuesday with the annual inter-league trading season of baseball. The season ends Friday, Dec. 15.

If the American League got the edge in 1966 by the deal that brought Frank Robinson to Baltimore from Cincinnati, the National got even last season by snatching Mike McCormick from Washington and Roger Maris from the New York Yankees.

McCormick, who once cost the Giants a reported $75,000 bonus as a free agent, returned to San Francisco last December in the deal that sent outfielder Cap Peterson and pitcher Bob Priddy to Washington. McCormick became the winner of the Cy Young Award as the outstanding pitcher in the National League.

Maris was traded by the Yankees to St. Louis for third baseman Charlie Smith. Maris was a most important factor in the Cards' pennant victory and World Series success while Smith was just another infielder with the ninth-place Yankees.

Clete Boyer found Atlanta's atmosphere so invigorating that he bounced back with his best year at the plate for the Braves after leaving the Yankees. Bill Robinson, the highly touted rookie outfielder who came to New York for Boyer, got off slowly after suffering an arm injury during the winter.

Other deals last year found the White Sox trading outfielder Floyd Robinson to Cincinnati for pitcher Jim O'Toole and Los Angeles Dodgers swapping pitcher Nick Willits to the Angels for pitcher Bob Lee.

Luis Aparicio, the veteran shortstop of the Baltimore Orioles, is considered a likely pawn this year with the Dodgers reportedly interested. Pitcher Don Sutton might go to the Orioles. The Dodgers also would like first baseman Roge Powell or outfielder Curt Blefary.

Maury Wills, traded to Pittsburgh last year by Los Angeles, would fit nicely into the Yankee scheme of things if an appropriate deal could be arranged. The Yanks do have surplus pitching that might interest the Pirates.

Rico Carty might well be the target of bidders. The outfielder had his problems with Atlanta last season and was involved in a publicized airplane battle with Hank Aaron.

There also have been persistent rumors that first baseman Donn Clendenen is on the block at Pittsburgh.

Just One Bout Permitted

Bowls List Teams

Tennessee and Oklahoma, two of the Top Ten in the United States, landed in the Orange Bowl Monday while the Sugar Bowl reached out for unbeaten Wyoming and the Cotton Bowl grabbed Colorado Alabama for the Monday, Jan. 1, football spectacles.

BIG ONES SET

Lineups were virtually set for the four oldest and most established bowls.

The other bowls—there are 13 in all, running from Saturday, Dec. 2, through New Year's Day and beyond—also began scrambling for talent.

Here are the major pairings:

ROSE BOWL—Southern California (9-1) vs Minnesota (7-2) or Indiana (8-1).

ORANGE BOWL—Tennessee (7-1) vs Oklahoma (7-1).

SUGAR BOWL—Wyoming (10-0) vs Louisiana State (5-3).

COTTON BOWL—Alabama (7-1) vs Texas A and M (5-4), Texas (6-3), Texas Tech (5-4) or Texas Christian (3-5).

GOOD MATCHING

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., is shaping up as one of the better post-season attractions. It hoped to match Penn State (7-2), voted the best team in the East, against the winner of Saturday's game between Florida (6-2) and Florida State (6-2). The Gator Bowl is played on Saturday, Dec. 30.

The Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., picked Mississippi (4-3) to play an unnamed opponent Dec. 30. The Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., Saturday, Dec. 16, is reported interested in Missouri (7-2), Georgia (6-3), Auburn (6-3) and Nebraska (6-3), among others.

COLORADO IN

Colorado (7-2) was chosen for the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Saturday, Dec. 23 with the opponent to be chosen from one of the runners-up in the Southwest Conference race.

Southern California clinched the Rose Bowl spot Saturday by edging UCLA 21-20, but its Big Ten opponent was delayed until after the final games this week involving Minnesota and Indiana.

Minnesota apparently has the inside track after smashing the previously-unbeaten Indiana Hoosiers last Saturday 37-7.

Coach Scores Bloody Victory But Canadiens Prove Docile

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens took care of one of his tormentors Sunday but his team couldn't handle a journeyman hockey player named Lowell MacDonald.

MacDonald, a 26-year-old rightwinger who had scored only five National Hockey League goals in failing several trials with Detroit Red Wings, popped in three second-period goals in Los Angeles as the Canadiens took the slump-ridden Canadiens, 4-2, to retain their Western Division lead.

Blake got into action late in the game, just after a fight broke out on the ice between Montreal-cooked Serge Savard and Kings' Gordon Labossiere.

An unidentified fan belted Blake on the head and the Montreal coach traded punches with his assailant before hitting him over the head with a stick. The fan, blood streaming down his face, was led from the scene by another man.

It was small solace for Blake, whose team had lost in Oakland Friday night and is now only one point ahead of Chicago Black Hawks, who have been doing something about escaping the Eastern Division basement.

STREAK AT NINE

Hawks extended their unbeaten streak through a ninth game when Doug Mohn scored on a six-man attack with only five seconds left to produce a 2-2 tie with Detroit Red Wings in Chicago.

The tie enabled the Wings to take over the Eastern Division lead, moving them one point ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins, who moved up at notch by trouncing the Leafs, 6-2, in Boston.

Former-Leaf, Eddie Shack

Shack got credit for his first goal at 14:07 of the second period when John Bower brought the puck into the net when he fell over after making the stop.

Bower, a bit shell-shocked after having made 30 stops in the first 34 minutes, was then replaced by Bruce Gamble and left the ice to a standing ovation tendered by the 13,909 fans.

In other games Sunday, New York Rangers defeated Minnesota North Stars, 5-2, and Philadelphia Flyers edged past St. Louis Blues, 2-1. Don Marshall, who passed the 200-goal mark in the NHL with his effort scored two goals for Rangers.

Mahovich Returns For Therapy Skate

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Mahovich returned to Maple Leaf Gardens Monday for the first time since he was admitted to hospital Nov. 2 and Dr. Hugh Smythe said the rightwinger may be skating again with Toronto Maple Leafs next week.

The National Hockey League star was in hospital with what doctors termed acute depression and tension, but for the last week or so has been skating in secret at a private club.

His non-hour session Monday was closed to reporters and photographers as he worked with defenceman Allan Stanley who is recovering from an eye injury suffered Nov. 11 in Minnesota against the North Stars.

So tight was security surrounding Mahovich's return to Gardens ice that he was whisked into the building in a limousine with only his wife and a nurse in attendance.

The skating sessions have been prescribed as therapy by attending doctors.

Dr. Smythe, the club physician, said Monday: "There is reasonable hope that Frank will be skating with the Leafs next week."

He gave no indication when Mahovich might be expected to resume playing.

Stanley is expected to miss Wednesday night's game here against the North Stars, but could be in action Saturday when Detroit Red Wings arrive to play the Leafs.

Wanderers Move by Duncan XV

Oak Bay Wanderers vacated the Victoria Rugby Union first division cellar Sunday at Duncan by trouncing pointless Cowichan, 13-3.

Veteran Don Burgess led Oak Bay to first win of the season, leading two conversions and a penalty goal. Dave Smirl and John Gotta scored Wanderers' tries while Blair Bellis scored a try for the losers.

Wanderers also won a second division game against Cowichan, 10-0, while West Vancouver Barbarians tripped first division leaders, Castaways, 9-6, in other rugby action.

Ottawa Offence Fails And Upset in Making

OTTAWA — Alert defensive play which set up an early touchdown led Hamilton Tiger-Cats to an 11-3 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders Sunday in the first game of the two-game, total-point Eastern Football Conference final.

Second game will be played in Hamilton on Saturday.

Neither club could manage much of an offence under the handicap of bad playing conditions. The field was slippery, the temperature was 30 degrees at game time and lower at the finish and a 30-mile-an-hour wind blowing diagonally across the field further disrupted passing attacks.

Tiger-Cats scored the game's only touchdown on their second play from scrimmage. Import

Seaver Selection History of Sorts

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Mets, rarely with a player among the leaders in season or out, came up with a winner Monday when Tom Seaver was named the National League's Rookie of the Year for 1967.

Seaver, 23-year-old right-handed pitcher who won 16 games and lost 13, received 11 votes in the balloting by 20 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Right-handed pitchers dominated the voting. Dick Hughes of the champion St. Louis Cardinals was second with six votes. Cincinnati's Gary Nolan collected three.

Seaver is the first Mets' player ever to capture an official post-season award and the first member of a last-place team to win the rookie award in the National League.

Chinooks Continue Ulcer-Causing Play

Turner's charges have been hot and cold on alternate days for their last six games, blowing their opportunities to move out into a solid lead in first place.

Chinooks hit on 43 per cent of their shots on Saturday when they tripped Groceries, 68-57, but could only hit on 28 per cent of their field attempts Sunday and were a miserable 12 for 28 from the foul line.

Steve Woods paced Groceries' win, scoring 17 points and holding Otis Mollen to 10 points. Rod Fields, with 13 points, and Drew Schroeder, with 12, were best for Chinooks.

IGA Groceries used their fast break to good advantage in the late stages of Sunday's game in Vancouver to down Chinooks, 67-48, and take over sole possession of first place, two points ahead of Chinooks, CYQ Superstars and Kilmory, which thumped University of Victoria, 72-43, at Gordon Head.

Stampeders Believe Injury Edge Theirs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders believe it will be easier for them than Saskatchewan Roughriders to replace injured players for the second game of the best-of-three Western Football Conference final Wednesday night at Regina.

Each club was left with two injuries following Saturday's opening game at Calgary which the Stampeders won 15-11.

Roughriders lost defensive ends Garner Ekstran and Don Gerhardt, while defensive end Dick Suderman and halfback Ben Woodson hobbled off for Stampeders.

DEFINITELY OUT

Roughriders coach Eagle Keys said Monday Ekstran's hamstring muscle injury, suffered while tackling Stampeders quarterback Peter Liske, definitely will keep him out of Wednesday's lineup.

Gerhardt suffered a knee injury, but it is not definite yet whether he will sit out the next game.

Stampeders general manager Rogers Leheew said Suderman and Woodson are questionable for Wednesday's game.

"We don't know until Tuesday afternoon," he said.

Suderman aggravated a charley horse. Woodson pulled a groin muscle.

"I think they'll have more trouble filling two defensive spots than we'll have filling our offensive halfback position," said Leheew.

Leheew said if Woodson, Calgary's second-best ground gainer this year behind Lowell Coleman, is forced to sit out the second game, he will be replaced by Bob Faremore.

Keys said Ken Reed must likely fill in for Ekstran, while Don Bahnuik will be switched to trouble filling two defensive Reeds' guard position.

Baltimore Colts, professional football's only unbeaten club, and Green Bay Packers continued on their collision course Sunday.

Varying usual procedure, the Colts displayed a powerful running game in an impressive 41-7 rout of Detroit Lions while the Packers came up with close to perfect defence as they fought their way by San Francisco 49ers, 13-0.

Packers' victory practically assured them of the championship of the Western Conference's Central Division although Chicago Bears are making a belated bid. That would set up a playoff semi-final with the champion of the Coastal Division.

However, the Colts are by no means in the clear despite their eight victories and two ties. Los Angels Rams stayed in close contention, a game behind, with 31-3 whipping of Atlanta Falcons.

Trailing, 14-17, in the fourth quarter, the Raiders finally pulled out a costly 31-17 win over the stubborn Miami Dolphins when Darryle Lamontica threw a 46 and nine-yard scoring pass to Billy Cannon after George Blanda had tied at 17-17 with a 11-yard field goal.

COSTLY VICTORY

Kansas City Chiefs haven't been officially dethroned as champions of the American Football League but it appears they can forget about that rematch with Green Bay Packers in the Super-Bowl.

Unable this season to show the take-charge ability of last season, the Chiefs were dropped out of the Western Division lead Sunday when they were noed out, 17-16, by San Diego Chargers.

Chargers escaped with the victory which left them battling with Oakland Raiders for the division lead when Jan Stenerud, who had previously connected from 12, 48 and 22 yards, missed a 24-yard field goal with 19 seconds left.

Trailing, 14-17, in the fourth quarter, the Raiders finally pulled out a costly 31-17 win over the stubborn Miami Dolphins when Darryle Lamonia threw 46 and nine-yard scoring passes to Billy Cannon after George Blanda had tied at 17-17 with an 11-yard field goal.

COSTLY VICTORY

However, Clem Daniels, their leading rusher, and linebacker Bill Lasky were both lost to Raiders with ankle injuries. Lasky is out for the season with a fracture and it appears that Daniels will miss the Thanksgiving Day game against the Chiefs.

Result left Raiders ahead with an 8-1 record, the Chargers second at 7-1 and the Chiefs third at 6-4.

New York Jets lengthened out a half game on the idle Houston Oilers in the Eastern Division, holding off the rallying Boston Patriots for a 29-24 win.

Eugene Bombers clinched fourth place in the Western Division of the Continental Football League Sunday with a 20-7 victory over Victoria Tyees before 4,021 fans at Eugene.

Bombers scored 13 points in the final quarter to win going away.

Victoria held Eugene to a 7-7 tie in the first three quarters on the strength of Steve Jones' 90-yard kickoff return.

Cosmonaut Aid
NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian government has agreed to give all possible assistance in recovering Russian cosmonauts and space craft if they are forced to land in India. Russia has agreed to meet the costs involved.

No, Mr. Frisby... the path is over here. That's the fishpond. Next time, better lead Mr. Frisby down the garden path. Either that or get in touch with your electrical contractor to have him install some outdoor lighting. It's quite inexpensive, and it makes the garden a safer, much pleasanter place to be after dark.

Youths Face Drug Charges

Two 19-year-olds were charged in central magistrate's court Monday with having marijuana in their possession Saturday. No plea was taken.

Charged were Douglas Arthur Carlson of HMCS Columbia, and Christopher William Perry of CFB Esquimalt. Both were remanded to Nov. 27 to select their method of trial and to plea.

Both men said they didn't want bail set.

Raymond Whalen, 26, went forjriding Saturday and it cost him six months in jail.

Whalen, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to taking a car without the owner's consent. Court was told that Whalen had also been sentenced to two months in jail when he appeared Monday in Duncan, charged with stealing gasoline for the car.

Constable Ronald Ferguson said the car was stolen from the 700 block Bay, and Whalen was found by Shawinigan Lake RCMP driving the car later in the day.

"BAD SHAPE"

Whalen told Constable Ferguson that Lalonde had befriended him and that he was "just going for a ride."

Whalen said in court: "I have a drinking problem. That morning I was in pretty bad shape. I was drinking out."

Magistrate William Osler said the six-month sentence would begin immediately. Whalen admitted a previous conviction for car theft.

Paul Hieskov of Picton, Ont., was caught the second time he tried to cash a forged cheque at The Bay, Saturday.

Hieskov pleaded guilty to two counts of uttering, and was remanded to Nov. 28 for sentence.

Det. Walter Caldwell said Hieskov cashed a cheque in the name of John W. Starck for $20 Saturday, and returned three hours later and tried to cash a similar cheque, this time for $35.

Hieskov told police he had found a wallet in the name of Mr. Starck and had used that identification when cashing the cheque.

A fist in the face of Harold Maunders, 17, broke one tooth and loosened three others, court was told during the trial of Brian Angus, 14, Hadfield, who had pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm.

Mr. Maunders said the incident occurred in the washroom of the Esquimalt United Church hall, Oct. 13. Angus said to him "you're a big boy now" and hit him in the face with his fist. That damaged the teeth.

GLASSES BROKEN

A second blow broke his glasses, Mr. Maunders said.

Dr. Carron Jameson, a dentist, said he estimated the bill to repair Mr. Maunders' teeth at $500 or less.

Angus said he heard one of three or four youths he thought to be about 14 say to Mr. Maunders, "Just because you're bigger than me doesn't mean anything."

He asked Mr. Maunders if he were bothering them. He was pushed by Mr. Maunders, he said, and he hit Mr. Maunders in the face. Angus said he suffered a broken hand in the fight.

Magistrate Osler found Angus guilty, adding that it was "gratuitous interference by the accused."

Angus was remanded to Nov. 30 for a pre-sentence report.

RCMP officers found 54 full bottles of beer and several empties in a car which over-turned in an accident on the Trans-Canada Highway, Oct. 21.

Defence Worker Retires

Cheering Friends Launch Old Salt

A Victoria man retired Monday after nearly half a century of service with the defence department.

He is Wilfred Pember of 294 Beaumont Avenue, who celebrates his 65th birthday today. Monday was his last day when friends at Rocky Point gave him a read sendoff. He was pulled in an ammunition cart from his office to the gate of the depot while a miniature cannon fired a salute and fellow-workers cheered.

Well-known in both service and civilian circles in Victoria, Mr. Pember began his military career as a boy seaman with the Royal Navy in 1918. In the summer of 1941 he transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy as a petty officer and in 1953 became Lieutenant-Commander at Arms at HMCS Naden, the only one in the navy. He retired from the naval service here in the summer of 1957, but remained with the defence department working at the armed force's ammunition depot at Rocky Point.

TO FIGHT SLUMS

The Argentine government has allotted $3,400,000 for eradication of slum dwellings that have proliferated on the fringes of major cities in the last few years.

Fall Death Accidental

The death of Mrs. Dorna Jackson, 23, of 2558 Quadra, was accidental, coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said Monday after an inquiry. Mrs. Jackson was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital Nov. 12 after she fell down a flight of stairs at 3576 Cadmus, and the cause of death was a skull fracture.

A man who scratched the side of a car which had boxed in his car on the parking lot of a city motel Sept. 13 was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to wilful damage.

Leonard Smith, 440 Simcoe, scratched the other car with a piece of metal, court was told. He was ordered to pay $50 in compensation.

A 19-year-old youth who took a friend's car without permission was sentenced to one day in jail and fines $250 when he pleaded guilty to theft over $50.

Leslie Kitson, Work Point Barracks, was also fined $25 on each count of being a minor without insurance and not having a driver's licence. Kitson was stopped Friday night on Gorge Road by city police officers. The car belonged to a person in the same regiment.

Fined for impaired driving: Kenneth Norman, 412 Moresby, $300, licence suspended; Gary Connors, 3441 Wascana, $300, licence suspended.

Fined $35 each for being minors in possession of alcohol: Trevor Owens, 1648 Richardson; Gerald Loudon, 1579 Sonria.

Now try a gentle laxative from the makers of Tums!

It's called MR... because it's Nature's Remedy

The Tums people, as you would expect, know a great deal about sensitive stomachs. That's why they make their laxative, MR Nature's Remedy, only with vegetable ingredients. So, MR brings easy, effective, overnight relief. This gentle action is especially important if you now take a laxative once, twice or three times a week. MR works while you sleep without disturbing your rest. There is no letdown, no uncomfortable after-feeling. Try Nature's Remedy, a gentle all-vegetable laxative. Regular or chocolate coated. MR tonight, tomorrow alright.

If you don't have these...

get one of these.

Watching the Big Game from an easy chair instead of a box seat? You can still capture all the action. And the color. And the feeling of being there on the fifty-five yard line. Just make an end run to your Electrohome dealer's. Why Electrohome? Because only Electrohome incorporates all of these new color TV features to bring you perfect viewing today... and for a good many seasons to come. It's an imposing list:

1. Colortone Control. Lets you "paint" a picture to suit your fancy.
2. Direct Vision Picture Tube. Electrohome has the best and brightest picture in the business. We don't want to dull it. So there's only one layer of glass between you and the screen.

3. InstaVu. CLICK! And you have a picture. In one-fifth the time.
4. Automatic Color Control. The colors you choose are there to stay... automatically.
5. Convenience Control Panel. Easy to operate. Nice to look at too!
6. Automatic Fine Tuning. All you do is pick a channel. Then press a very special little button. Result? Perfect picture!
7. Easy Servicing. Any serviceman will tell you Electrohome takes less time to service. And time means money.

8. Integrated Circuitry. Electrohome uses this small wonder in its tuner. One reason why our automatic fine tuner works such marvels.

9. Unique Reliability. We've patented a new type chassis. It can't trap hot air. So components are protected from heat and failure.

10. Life Test. All Electrohome color TV sets are given a rigorous "wear-in" test before they leave the factory. Result. Longer, peak-performance operation.

11. And much, much more... Automatic degaussing. Super Arbor Nuvistor Tuner. 25,000 volts of picture power. Color coded controls. Add-on remote. Illuminated channel indicator. Complete with UHF. Deilcraft hand-crafted cabinet. Plus Canadian engineering to meet Canadian broadcast conditions.

No Evidence, Says Sharp

High Dollar Rate Blasted by MP

OTTAWA (CP) — An NDP member said in the Commons Monday that at least one chartered bank has charged a 94-per-cent discount in converting Canadian to American dollars since the devaluation of the pound.

Finance Minister Sharp immediately ordered inquiries and reported within a few minutes he could find "no evidence" to support the statement.

Colin Cameron (NDP—Manitoba-Ontario) said it appeared the banks were engaged in a racket during the uncertainty caused by Saturday's devaluation of the British pound.

Canada's dollar is pegged by International agreement at 82½ cents in relation to the U.S. dollar and must be traded within one percentage point of that level.

Sharp said that if in fact banks are charging 94 cents for conversion, it would be the duty of authorities to step in to maintain the pegged rate.

But he suggested that the exchange rate at that moment was 83 3-32 cents and Cameron should change banks.

"I resent that frivolous attitude on the part of the minister," barked Cameron. "Bloody irresponsible," he added as he sat down.

Cameron

The exchange occurred after Sharp had reported briefly on the British move. He reiterated the government's determination to keep the Canadian dollar at its present exchange value.

Sharp also said Canada is supporting the new British pound through the International Monetary Fund and in collaboration with the central banks of other countries.

Opposition Leader Stanfield said Sharp's statement was reassuring, but asked the implications for Canadian exports of wheat and for other industries.

Prime Minister Pearson said Trade Minister Winters now is on a wheat sales mission to Europe, and would report on his return. Winters' schedule is for a three-week tour of Europe.

Energy Minister Pepin said devaluation should not make any change in Britain's need for Canadian wheat. Since no other wheat-supplying country had devalued its currency, Canada's competitive position in the British market was not changed.

ORDERLY MARKET
In reply to David Fulton (PC—Kamloops), Mr. Sharp said the Canada-U.S. money market had remained orderly and that there had been "no particular movement of capital in either direction."

He said Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, had "assured him he did not believe the Canada-U.S. market would be disturbed by a rise in the central bank's rediscount rate to six per cent from five."

Mr. Sharp also told H. A. Olson (L—Medicine Hat) that no increase in capital flows to the United Kingdom had been "brought to my attention."

Departing Leader Discounts Parley

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson, who left Monday for a round of private talks and a short holiday in London, said he sees little prospect of an early Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

He said the only big question for such a meeting would be Rhodesia, and no solution to that problem is in sight.

CBC and Unity

Pearson Raps Quebec Blast

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Monday rebuked Premier Johnson of Quebec for his statement that the CBC should not promote the idea of national unity.

Pearson said in the Commons it is surprising that there should be any objection to the pursuit of national unity by all Canadian agencies, including the CBC.

He was replying to A. B. Paterson, acting Social Credit leader, who asked whether there had been any request from Mr. Johnson that the Quebec government take over control of Radio-Canada, the CBC's French-language network.

BROADCAST BILL
Johnson said Saturday at St. John's, Que., that the Quebec government would try to get control of the French CBC network or establish its own.

The premier criticized the government's current broadcasting bill and said the government's attempt to force a "national unity" policy on the CBC bordered on fascism.

He said the federal government intends to permit the CBC to become its "propaganda agency" by promoting government-defined national unity.

Johnson said there can be no definition of National unity.

"without the presence of an equal basis of the French element."

A motion by Auguste Choquette (L—Lévis) for an emergency debate on Premier Johnson's statements was ruled out of order by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

The Speaker said the issue could be raised at any time during a supply debate to start later in the day.

A total of 185 workers in all city departments except police, fire, health, welfare, libraries, police and fire refused to cross the picket lines. Supervisory personnel were carrying out emergency services.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Civic operations were brought to a virtual standstill Monday when 18 electrical workers went on strike for higher pay and shorter hours.

Winters said talks with British officials dealing with trade and foreign and Commonwealth affairs confirmed his impression that basic Canadian sales to Britain will weather devaluation of the pound.

Britain will continue to need the main components of its imports from Canada, such as wheat, pulp and metals, he said.

NDP Adopts New Policy On Status for Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Democratic Party has scrapped its stand on special status for Quebec in favor of a cross-country survey of grass-roots opinion on constitutional reform.

The new policy, adopted at the weekend session of the party's 105-member federal council, was announced Sunday at a news conference attended by T. C. Douglas, the national leader, and the party executive.

Read first in French by Robert Cléche, the NDP's Quebec leader and associate president, and then in English by James Renwick, NDP national president, the policy statement outlines plans for a public opinion survey that will be followed by interviews with organizations and public debates.

Mr. Renwick said the party hopes to have "a declaration of common objectives" in time for discussion on the constitution at its biennial national convention at Montreal in July, 1969.

BASIC REFORMS
The statement said that if basic social, economic and constitutional reforms are required "such changes should only be sought through a new alliance of the Canadian people in which the broadest cross-section of public opinion is represented."

Mr. Douglas said there is a tendency in all parties, including his own, to approach national unity only as a constitutional problem. The constitution was "a tool to be used, not a yoke to be borne."

COMMON AIMS
He said Canadians need to agree on common objectives—full employment, economic growth, housing, health, education—before they will be able to assess what constitutional changes are needed.

The definition of new federal powers must not, however, cut across the rights of French-speaking Canadians or inhibit the expression of their cultural and linguistic heritage.

During the three-day session the federal council continued its study of a lengthy list of resolutions left from the NDP's July convention. They will be dealt with at the council's March meeting in Ottawa.

Resolutions approved stressed the need for:

● Public support to keep farm income commensurate with production costs while at the same time keeping down food prices;

● A housing policy whereby all levels of government will undertake massive land-assembly programs to stop speculative dealing in real estate;

● A science policy to encourage basic research into transportation, pollution and mineral development.

● An old age pension of $125 a month at age 65 related, but not tied, to the Consumer price index.

● Levying stiffer penalties against industries which pollute water, air and soils.

Market Contact Opens

Europe Shows Interest

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Devaluation of the pound brought Britain its first breakthrough Monday on contacts with the European Common Market and its bid to join the six-nation group.

Foreign ministers of Common Market members authorized Jean Rey, chairman of the market's executive committee, to get in touch with the British, or anyone else for a report on how the 14.3-per-cent devaluation would affect the membership applications of Britain, Ireland, Denmark and Norway.

FRENCH OPPOSITION
France is opposed to anything that smacks of negotiations between the market and Britain. Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville warned his counterparts at a meeting here that Rey's contacts with Britain should not give the impression negotiations are in fact under way.

Rey is to make his report early next month and the ministers will discuss it Dec. 18-19. Monday's meeting had been scheduled long in advance. It brought together the foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

FORMAL REPORT
Willy Brandt of West Germany came up with a proposal that Rey make a formal report by Dec. 12 on what the British bid looked like after devaluation. In this, Brandt said, he should get the help of Britain and the other applicants.

To some experts, devaluation makes Britain a more attractive partner for the Continental states. It should contribute to bringing British foreign payments into balance, one of the French conditions for starting negotiations.

FAE FROM READY
But the French are reported arguing now that devaluation only shows what a bad economic state Britain is in—evidence that the British are far from ready to join.

Couve and Rey poured cold water on Brandt's proposal, delegates said after the closed meeting. Rey objected that there would not be time for a full report. He wanted precise instructions as to whether he would be engaging in "pre-negotiations."

Brandt's proposal was considerably softened. Rey was asked only to give an informal, verbal report Dec. 11.

With Britain on Financial Ropes

Winters Pulls Trade Punches

Cash Line Eased By LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has softened his hardline approach to the U.S. government's money problems, it was learned Monday.

He has given in to the demand of Arkansas Democrat Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House ways and means committee, for a dollar cut in government spending in exchange for every new tax dollar.

Mills called his committee to a Nov. 28 meeting to consider the Johnson request for a 10-per-cent tax increase, but said Johnson left his concession so late that action this year is "improbable — even impossible."

He indicated Monday night that two days after a financial crisis had forced Britain to devalue the pound was hardly the time to press Canadian complaints.

In any case, some of Canada's worries about sales in Britain—especially steel and aluminum—have been overtaken by devaluation.

In steel trade, Canadian exporters viewed British systems of tax and commercial "loyalty" rebates as barriers against Canadian imports. British steelmen, on the other hand, had lodged dumping charges against Canadian exporters.

With devaluation, the British government abolished the system of rebating to manufacturers three per cent of the indirect taxes on any steel exported, thus removing one source of foreign complaints.

Winters said British Power Minister Richard Marsh assured him Monday plans to build aluminum smelters in Britain will not hit the present level of Canadian aluminum sales to Britain. About half of Britain's 340,000 tons of annual aluminum imports come from Canada.

Winters said talks with British officials dealing with trade and foreign and Commonwealth affairs confirmed his impression that basic Canadian sales to Britain will weather devaluation of the pound.

Britain will continue to need the main components of its imports from Canada, such as wheat, pulp and metals, he said.

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Trade Minister Robert Winters softened plans to raise commercial complaints with his British counterparts Monday when he found his sparring partners on the ropes.

Winters, who stopped off in London on his way to trade discussions in Europe, had intended to voice Canada's concern about British policies that tended to threaten Canadian sales here.

He indicated Monday night that two days after a financial crisis had forced Britain to devalue the pound was hardly the time to press Canadian complaints.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST

November 21, 1967

We understand that a number of naval officers, in conjunction with citizens of Victoria and Esquimalt, contemplate giving a day's hurdle racing at Beacon Hill. The time is not set; but it is hoped that it will not be later than three weeks from this date. The program is in the course of arrangement and will be published shortly.

George Wilson, of Cariboo, published a card this morning. He says he wants his friends to get "square" on him and offers to fight Joe Eden for any sum not less than $3,000 at any place not over 100 miles from Victoria, provided it be on British soil. Wilson, it will be observed, signs himself "champion of British Columbia and Vancouver Island," a title which we believe Eden also lays claim to. There will, no doubt, be another fight between the rival gladiators.

Cashier on Trial

Fine Receipts Handwritten

A County Court jury was told Monday that a former cashier at central magistrate's court receipted traffic tickets in her own handwriting instead of having them stamped by a machine.

Teen Paper Banned In Schools

The schoolhouse door has been shut on Mosaic, the independent teen paper which published its first issue last week.

Greater Victoria School Board decided on Monday that for the time being at least the paper cannot be distributed on school grounds.

Mosaic has no teacher supervision.

District superintendent Joseph Chell said he wanted to see several editions of the paper before he allows Mosaic in the schools.

Trustee John Porteous warned that refusing permission for school distribution might weaken communication between adults and teenagers.

Royalties Urged For Indians

Royalties should be paid to B.C.'s Indians on any minerals found off the coast, according to the Pro Patria Legion branch.

A recent resolution contended the Indians never sold their ownership of offshore mineral rights or gave them away by treaty, and urged royalties to aid Indian housing and education.

Collision Kills One, Seven Others Hurt

A 33-year-old woman was killed and seven people injured in a two-car crash on Craigflower near Russell at 7:47 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Kovats, 1674 Warren Gardens, was dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. It was the second fatality in the city this year and the 17th in the Greater Victoria area.

Mrs. Kovats was a passenger in a Volkswagen driven by her husband, Miklos, aged 34. He is in fair condition in St. Joseph's with head, hip and leg injuries.

TWO CHILDREN

Their two children, Clara, 5, and Nora, 2, were also injured.

Clara is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital with a fractured right leg and head injuries. Nora is in fair condition in St. Joseph's with lacerations to the face.

Their car was heading east on Craigflower when it was in collision with a Chevrolet station wagon driven by Timothy John Ogilvie, 22, of 1030 Fairfield.

THREE PASSENGERS

Mr. Ogilvie is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee with head injuries and lacerations.

Three passengers in the station wagon were also injured. Sharon Brown, 19, a student nurse at St. Joseph's, suffered chest and neck injuries. She is in fair condition in Royal Jubilee.

Irene Koza, 20, another student nurse, was released from Royal Jubilee Sunday.

Day Changed For Concerts

Weekly concerts at the Silver Threads Service's Esquimalt branch have been changed from Wednesdays to Thursdays starting this week. The concert this week will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in Jubilee Hall, 527 Fraser.

One Entered For Council

Only one candidate, Coun. Douglas Cook, has filed nomination papers so far for election to North Saanich council. Expected to follow him for the Dec. 9 elections are Councilors Trevor Davis and H. G. Horth, and Reeve J. B. Cummings.

The reeve ship, three council seats and one two-year school board term are open.

neither car was equipped with seat belts.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said an inquest would open at McCall Brothers, 1700 Vancouver, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Medical evidence will be taken and the hearing will be adjourned until all witnesses are able to give evidence.

The Kovats came to Canada in 1956 during the Hungarian uprising. They have lived in Victoria for seven years and Mr. Kovats is a forester with the provincial government.

Christmas Gets Early Start

Beating today's deadline for Christmas parcels to United Kingdom, Mrs. Jack Jones, 3864 High Street, took advantage Monday of first postal sub-station to open in Greater Victoria. Mrs. Jones gave parcels to postal clerk Fred Searl. New station at 3449 Saanich Road was officially opened Monday by Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis and Leonard Gillespie, federal public works department's regional manager, and will be depot for 30 carriers and 15 Jeep delivery services. Second postal station is under construction on Fort Street. — (William E. John)

With Friends in Vancouver

Dancer Home Late, Safe

Police throughout Western Canada had mounted a wide-spread search.

Railroad officials had checked out dozens of possibilities.

Newspapers had flashed the story across the nation.

Scores of people had been questioned.

Gail Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brandon, 1648 Wilnot Place, had "vanished" after stepping aboard a westbound Nov. 8 train at Winnipeg.

But the beautiful 13-year-old Victoria dancer walked into her home Monday with no tale of horror to tell.

She had just neglected to notify her family she was staying with friends in Vancouver.

"The first time I knew I was 'missing' was when I phoned my parents to pick me up," she said.

It all began when she met some young people on the train at Edmonton, she said. "I thought I would stay with them for a few days in Vancouver. I kept meaning to come home the next day but never did — until this afternoon."

She said she had not read a paper or listened to the radio to learn that she had been reported missing.

She arrived in Victoria by bus at about 5:15 p.m. Monday, and immediately phoned her parents for a ride home.

Her mother said: "I could have swatted her. The anguish we have gone through during the past 10 days has been just terrible, but now she's home and naturally I'm so pleased."

She told her daughter: "It just wasn't consistent of you. You have always written every week. It just wasn't like you not to tell us what you were doing."

Gail commented: "If I had known this was going to happen, I think I would have gone about it a little differently. I'm sorry. I really am sorry for all the trouble I've caused."

Gorge Vale Exemption

Vote Unhampered By Tax Details

By NANCY BROWN

Esquimalt council voted unanimously Monday night to give first readings to a bylaw to allow Gorge Vale golf club an "unknown" amount of tax relief.

If the bylaw is adopted at the next meeting of council the golf club will receive an exemption of $49,500 off its taxable assessment, the full amount of which was unknown to council when the first three readings were given to the bylaw.

Municipal clerk Jack Allan said the bylaw was "exactly the same as last year." He had prepared the new bylaw, Mr. Allan said, at the suggestion of the municipal assessor.

CLUB EXEMPTION

"These things have to be renewed every year," he told council. "We always give the golf club an exemption."

"I can't keep everybody's taxes in mind. I don't know what their total taxes would be, or what this exemption would mean in terms of dollars," Mr. Allan snapped when Coun. Arthur Mebs asked what the club's total assessment is, and how much they do pay each year?

"We do this every year," was Mr. Allan's explanation.

Mr. Allan added that he could look up the information if it became necessary.

Coun. Edward De Costa said as far as he knew the exemption was given because the club would not be able to afford to pay its full taxes.

He said he personally would like to see the club receive the maximum possible exemption, because it is one of the area's major green belts.

Coun. Mebs moved that the bylaw be given first three readings. The motion was carried unanimously.

PRELIMINARY READING

Council immediately went ahead with the preliminary readings.

There will be no advance poll in Esquimalt's municipal elections this December because discussion and drafting of a bylaw have been left too late, Mr. Allan said.

Coun. Mebs had suggested the advance poll at council's Nov. 6 meeting, but Mr. Allan, who has been the municipality's returning officer for several years, said at that time he knew of no other advance polls in the area, and did not think one would be worthwhile.

"TOO LATE"

"It's too late now to get a bylaw through as provided by the municipal act," Mr. Allan said Monday. "If this matter had been brought up sooner it would have been possible to do."

"The other three areas do have advance polls."

"It's been a matter of great surprise to me. I'm sorry about this but it's too late to do it."

ACTION DEFERRED

Reeve Ray Bryant said the bylaw has to be adopted by Nov. 1 to be valid.

Over Coun. Gerald Horne's objections the matter was referred to the incoming council.

It was decided to defer action on a decision made by council two weeks ago to make Lyall Street a through street, to help alleviate congestion on Esquimalt Road.

RESIDENTS' PLEA

Some 40 residents had signed a letter to council protesting the changes, and predicting accidents, speeding problems and traffic jams, if the proposal is carried through.

"It would be a tragedy if the taxpayers of the surrounding area have to wait half an hour to be able to cross Lyall Street in order to reach their homes, while people who live on the other side of town go flying by," said the letter.

The greatest tragedy would come, said the letter, if a child were to ride across Lyall Street as he had always done and got hit by a car.

PARK AREA

If the order went through, the area which has a park and two playgrounds and is also near the arena, would become a virtual freeway, and police would be kept busy with hot-rodgers leaving the arena at high speeds.

Traffic committee chairman Coun. Mebs said the engineer is concerned about the status of Lamson Street if Lyall becomes a through road.

Slated for widening and other improvements, Lamson Street is at present a secondary highway, which means the provincial government pays a share for improvements.

A through road on Lyall could change the status of Lamson Street, said Coun. Mebs.

Primary Grades

Sex Talks Approved By Board

Sex education in the primary grades was approved Monday by the Greater Victoria School Board.

Trustees approved the playing in school of a talk on reproduction by radio-TV personality Art Linkletter.

Dr. Donald Shorting, chairman of the board's education committee, said that it is planned to let all Grade 2 children hear the record this term, and possibly the Grade 1 and 3 classes as well.

"WELL DONE"

"It's remarkably well done," said Dr. Shorting of the 18-minute I.P. record, which is also available in record shops.

Greater Victoria has won nationwide recognition for its pioneering in "family life education" in junior high school. Pupils now see several movies from year to year, and in Grade 8 hear lectures of sex by medical doctors.

The B.C. School Trustees Association and the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation have asked the government to introduce sex education in the primary grades. So far the department of education permits such courses on local initiative, but has not introduced its own program.

Live Bomb Under Sea

An unexploded bomb is on the bottom of Juan de Fuca Strait near Pachena Point, the navy warned Monday.

The bomb, fired from HMCS Saskatchewan during an exercise several days ago, is lying in 82 fathoms of water, 19.3 miles from Pachena Point light, a navy spokesman said.

It would be unlikely a boat would snag it, the spokesman said.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: A dear friend of mine had a horrible experience recently and I would like your opinion on what should be done about it. Emily (not her real name) noticed a lump in her breast. She went to a physician and was told to check into the hospital for surgery that evening. The operation was performed within 48 hours of the time she had seen the physician.

When Emily awoke from the anesthetic she learned that her breast had been removed. She went into a deep depression (which I understand is not unusual) but she began to cheer up on the fourth day. On the fifth day, however, it leaked out that the biopsy report on the breast which had been removed was negative. This made the poor woman so furious that she just about tore the hospital apart.

What can be done to prevent such catastrophes in the future? Don't suggest that Emily sue the doctor. Everyone knows the medical profession is such a tightly knit little group and it's ridiculous to try to fight them. I'd like your views. — CALIFORNIA YELL FOR HELP

Dear Ann Landers: I couldn't resist writing to express my sympathy for the woman who signed herself "Married To A Nut." She asked you to arrange passage for him to the moon because he couldn't get along with a single person here on earth.

There is at least one more like him. My husband. He also has some pet theories about life and people and will happily deliver a 40-minute speech on any topic, with or without encouragement. My husband is certain that nobody in this world succeeds unless he is crooked, dishonest, immoral or related. This goes for the top people in politics, business, religion, education and the arts.

I have a suggestion for "Married To A Nut." Let's you and I get together and introduce our husbands. Maybe they can find happiness together knocking everybody on earth. Then we wives can take the first rocket to the moon and look for some nice little outer-space men who are sensible and well-balanced. Please print my name and address. — ALSO MARRIED TO A NUT

Dear Also: Here's your letter but I wouldn't think of printing your name and address. YOU'd be besieged with letters from wives who would want to join you!

So, don't believe everything you hear, Dearie.

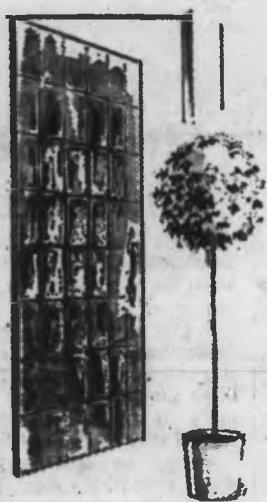

Confidential to Deep Trouble: Don't count on it. "Truth serum" does not always produce the truth. An experienced liar or a person who actually believes the lie he is telling can come out looking very truthful.

Satin Coat, Dress Worn For Candlelight Service

Sara Jane MacKinnon wore a bridal satin coat and dress ensemble when she became the bride of James Anthony Colgan at a candlelight service in First United Church.

The simple sheath dress was appliqued with re-embroidered lace at the neckline, yoke and front panels of the coat. A self-fabric pill box held her tiered veil of silk illusion, which was edged in a scalloped design studded with seed pearls. She carried an orchid on top of a white prayer book.

Rev. J. R. D. Morris officiated when the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert John MacKinnon, 1123 Rockland Ave., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Geissler of Shackleton, Sask., exchanged rings and vows. Mr. MacKinnon gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Donald Sutter was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Nonie Creelman, Trenton, Ont., and Jean Crowe. The trio wore matching gowns of bright pink peau d'elephant with matching coronet headpieces and carried bouquets of white carnations. John McLeod acted as best man and Kenneth Provan and William Grudison were the ushers.

At the reception following in the Old England Inn a three-tier wedding cake centred the head table. It was cut with a dirk which belonged to the bride's uncle, the late Col.

Donald F. Forbes. H. C. O'Donnell proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon the new Mrs. Colgan chose a brown and white reversible costume in Vicuna cloth, complemented by dark brown accessories, a black fur hat, and a gardenia corsage. The newlyweds will make their home in Kelso, Wash.

For the Paper Ball on the Michelangelo to benefit P.A.L., Charlotte Ford Niarchos (top) wore a Paisley paper ballgown with sable cuffs, designed by Bill Blass. Sarmi's dress for Wendy Vanderbilt, in a multi-color paper print was short at one side and floor length on the other with a wide, ruffled hem.

Inside Fashion

Only a Paper Ball

By EUGENIA SHEPPARD

NEW YORK — It was only a paper ball, but the paper ballgowns worn by about 100 celebrities willing to be good sports were done by top designers and spiked by thousands of dollars worth of real jewels.

Everything except the food at the dinner dance on the Michelangelo, Wednesday night, was made of paper, or at least Reemay, which is not paper as you think of writing paper or paper towels, but vaguely related.

You might not believe the relationship from the Reemay dress Bill Blass designed for Charlotte Ford Niarchos, who was co-chairman of the dance along with Wendy Vanderbilt. Charlotte's dress was a long, flowing, multi-colored paper print with a wide, ruffled hem.

Nando Sarmi had fun with paper for Wendy Vanderbilt's sake. The dress he designed for her in a multi-color print had a deep slit up one side.

Charlotte Niarchos had the most frustrating experience when she arrived with George Hamilton as her date and a carefully prepared seating list in her hand. She found herself hostess of four tables instead of three. With George's help, it took ten minutes to rearrange everybody. Among her guests were Louise Savitt and Bill Blass, John Loeb, Jr., Melinda and Franklin Pierce. Anne and Gianni Udielli, Serena Stewart and Dick Adler and Maria and Byron Janis.

Two thousand yards of Reemay went into decorating the ship for the party, planned months ago. Tickets sold for $50 each and the proceeds went to benefit P.A.L. (Police Athletic League).

Nobody who has travelled on the Michelangelo would have recognized the main dining room, where most of the paper-clad people, at least, had their six-course dinner.

The pillars of the big salon were wrapped in pale blue velvet. Yes, there is such a thing as velvet paper.

Tables where the guests sat down to enjoy their dinner were covered with all the available paper prints in dots, stripes and paisley. On the menu were fresh caviar with blinis, tortellini in broth, filet of sole, beef Italian-style and a dessert called Vesuvian Surprise.

The ballroom was done in black and white zebra-striped paper, royal blue velvet swags and silver tablecloths.

Arlene Dahl went all out for wearing paper. Arlene's dress was multi-color paper, with a floor-length skirt.

Dresses, paper, of course, were modeled after dinner. The only man who got into paper was Paul Fagan, who wore John Weir's royal blue and yellow striped suit with a zipped-up jacket. His partner was Louise Savitt, in an identical pantsuit.

Heidi Vanderbilt's gown, by Hannah Troy, was in multi-color stripes with a big yellow sash and bow. Chester Weinberg did Anne Ford Udielli's, a wrap-around empire effect with a white satin sash and a white lace paper ruffle. Marni Ford was in Dario's white paper fringe. The dress Did Auchincloss wore was designed by Adele Simpson of pastel print.

New petal-soft loveliness for even the reddest, roughest, driest hands....

thanks to a century old secret... and TRITLÉ'S

The women of your grandmother's day knew how to keep their hands soft, delicate, chastely fragrant. Theirs were beautiful, beautiful hands because they had a secret in common: they knew that the precise combination of rosewater and glycerine restored delicacy, softness, femininity to their hands even after harsher exposure than yours will ever know. Tritlé's have their secret. And Tritlé's have successfully compounded an easy-to-use, delightfully fragrant cream and lotion based on that time-tested original glycerine and rosewater combination.

Tritlé's original Glycerine and Rosewater — pure white fluffy cream and free-flowing lotion — penetrates the skin quickly without messiness or stickiness. Even "detergent burn" responds to Tritlé's. Whatever the condition of your hands now — rough, red, chapped, dry — no matter how busy they have to be, you should try Tritlé's. Tritlé's soothes and smooths hands to new loveliness, so delightful to see, even more delightful to touch. Insist on Tritlé's, the white lotion and cream.

For a limited time only, you can save on TRITLÉ'S special offer. Two regular 4 oz lotion or regular 2 oz cream, $1.98 value for only $1.49.

Woman's World Topic

Anne Margaret Angus, for 30 years a volunteer member of boards and committees principally devoted to improving service to children, will address the Women's Canadian Club, Thursday, Nov. 23 in the Empress Hotel.

A graduate of UBC in 1923, married to a professor and grandmother of five, Mrs. Angus has for the last three years been a member of the National Centennial Conference, a body advisory to the federal cabinet minister responsible for centennial activities.

Her subject is, A Look at Woman's World. Mrs. Angus has written verse and articles on various subjects allied to her volunteer work. She wrote a history of the first 50 years of the Vancouver Children's Aid Society among other things.

She was born in Asia Minor where her father was British vice-consul for four years on special assignment and leave from his regiment. The family moved to B.C. on his retirement in 1909.

Johnson-Hollier

Couple Married at St. Alban's

Maude and white carnations decorated St. Alban's Anglican Church for the wedding of Janet Louise Hollier and Mrs. Frank William Johnson.

Rev. F. W. Hayes officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hollier, 3030 Shelbourne and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, 32 Lotus.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor-length gown of white peau de soie styled on Empire lines, three-quarter length sleeves and A-line skirt with wide hem of French lace. The detachable train had a scalloped hemline and her chapel veil was held by a crystal crown. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and red roses and white carnations were in her bouquet.

Miss Juanita Hayward was bridesmaid and Miss Joan Parker was junior bridesmaid. They wore floor-length Empire style gowns of blue peau de elegance with bell-shaped skirts. The same material with net formed their rosette headpieces. They had pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Albert Pellet was best man and showing guests to the pews marked with pink and white carnations was Mr. Albert Johnson, brother of the groom.

Mr. G. Hamilton, organist accompanied Mrs. G. Wilson when she sang A Wedding Prayer while the register was being signed.

A reception was held at the Gorge Vale Golf Club. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake, decorated with pink and white rosebuds, and made by the bride's mother. Mr. William Hastings proposed the toast and Mr. J. Hollier was master of ceremonies.

For a honeymoon on the mainland, the bride wore a rose crepe suit with white lace blouse, rose colored hat and gardenia corsage.

The couple are now living in the La Paloma, Dallas Road.

Goodwill Enterprises Recruits Rejected

Robert W. Dudley, manager and director of rehabilitation at Goodwill Enterprises, described rehabilitation as working with "a chronic condition which can be improved but not eliminated" when he addressed the University Women's Club at their recent meeting.

Stressing that it is a community responsibility to provide rehabilitation services, Mr. Dudley said that the teaching of new skills is tailored to the "total person."

In describing Goodwill Enterprises he explained that it operates on an experimental basis as a "transient sheltered workshop... not interested in keeping a static work force," as revealed by its 50 per cent turnover in staff.

Goodwill Enterprises recruits persons who have been repeatedly rejected by employers, provides physical, psychological and vocational training, raises personal capabilities to the optimum level, but does not necessarily attempt to provide outside employment. Training in 25 different skills is provided at the centre.

Mrs. Vincent W. Smith introduced the speaker and he was thanked by Mrs. R. G. Hobson. Miss Ethel C. Hopkins reported on the Association of Women Electors of Greater Victoria.

Mrs. J. W. McCammon, president, called for the resuscitation of the public affairs committee so that it might study such questions as the need for a Hansard in the provincial legislative assembly.

Mrs. J. S. Sanderson asked members to study the Carter report on taxation. Miss Margaret Lowe, membership convener, introduced new members Mrs. Edna Borg, Miss Helen V. Brown, Mrs. H. E. Dishaw, Mrs. T. C. Jain, Mrs. F. Mayne, Mrs. Judith Mills, Mrs. A. C. Riddford.

Refreshments were arranged and served by Mrs. A. B. Hall, Mrs. G. E. Simmons, Mrs. J. E. N. Flanagan, Mrs. J. F. Muir, Mrs. J. M. Kennaird, Mrs. C. J. Calder and Miss Marilyn Berry.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peach-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olaj. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

For a honeymoon on the mainland, the bride wore a rose crepe suit with white lace blouse, rose colored hat and gardenia corsage. The couple are now living in the La Paloma, Dallas Road.

Dairy foods go with good living

For quick and easy desserts start with ice cream. You can create simply yummy surprises for the young crowd or superbly elegant desserts for the adults.

For a birthday party treat serve pink and green ice cream snowballs. Tint coconut by shaking 1/2 cup flaked coconut with 2 tablespoons raspberry (or lime) jelly powder in a jar. Roll ice cream scoops in coconut and freeze until ready to serve.

Something new for the young crowd... a drink-dessert. Partially fill a tall glass with cold coffee, carefully spoon on sweetened whipped cream, then fill to the top with a scoop of coffee ice cream. Sprinkle generously with toasted almonds.

Flaming desserts finish special dinner parties with a flourish. Try a delicious mince-sauce sundae with vanilla ice cream. Measure 2 cups canned mince-sauce into a chafing dish; mix in 1/2 cup orange juice, 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries and 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Heat through. To serve flaming, carefully warm 1/2 cup brandy, light and pour over mince-sauce.

Sundae please everyone. This easy sauce makes special company sundae.

BRAZIL NUT SUNDAE SAUCE. 2 tablespoons instant coffee, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, pinch of salt, 1/2 cup light cream, 1/2 cup corn syrup, 1/2 cup shaved Brazil nuts, 1/2 cup butter.

Combine instant coffee, cornstarch and salt in heavy saucepan. Stir in cream and corn syrup. Simmer, stirring constantly 5 min. Remove from heat, stir in nuts and butter. Serve warm.

Note: Satisfactory results can not be obtained unless butter is used.

Willing Minor Kidnapped

TURIN, Italy — The parents of a 17-year-old youth took advantage of an Italian law that says "kidnapping" is a crime and charged a pretty married woman with kidnapping their son.

Silvana Pettiti, 24, who has a baby-daughter but is separated from her husband, said she and the boy "love each other and don't wish to harm anyone. We simply want to live together."

Names In the News

HOUSTON — The U.S. Space Agency named veteran space-man James McDivitt to command the first manned flight of the Saturn-5 moon rocket next year, with David Scott and Russell Schweikart as his crew. They thus became the most likely first U.S. crew to the moon. Manning the second Saturn-5 mission in early 1969 will be Frank Borman, with Michael Collins and William Anders.

FORT LANGLEY — The anniversary of the birth of B.C.'s first capital in 1858 was marked Monday. The official day is Nov. 19, but ceremonies were delayed to enable Premier Bennett and his cabinet to attend.

VANCOUVER — Dan McLeod, editor of the hippie newspaper Georgia Straight, was fined $50 after pleading guilty to causing a disturbance. He chanted "siege hiel" after police took a 12-year-old juvenile into custody following a ruckus.

STOCKHOLM — Rudolf Nureyev, the Russian ballet dancer who defected to the west six years ago, has turned down an invitation to dance in Finland for fear of being kidnapped.

MONTREAL — Cardinal Leger will leave Dec. 11 for West Africa to take up his new work as a missionary, a spokesman said. No definite country was mentioned.

AMERICAN CITY — Pope Paul resumed his Sunday noon papal blessings in his first public appearance since a prostate operation Nov. 4.

PARIS — Two little-known novelists were awarded leading annual French writing awards. The Goncourt prize went to Andre Mandiargues, 58, for his contemporary tragic novel The Margin and the Renaudot prize to Martinique farm manager Salvat Elchert, 40, for his second anti-colonialist novel The World As It Is.

HALIFAX — The Chronicle-Herald says an agreement by which Nova Scotia will buy the Dosco steel mill at Sydney will be announced tonight by Premier G. I. Smith.

TORONTO — Walter Gordon, Privy Council president, said he expects to enter hospital this week for minor surgery on a neck disc.

BURNABY — Magistrate Murray Hyde gave Michael Medley Evans, 24, a two-year suspended sentence for possession of marijuana despite an appeal court ruling that such ended Sept. 30, more than six times the loss for fiscal 1966. Despite this, sales edged up in October and operating targets have been met.

BOSTON — Patricia DiStefano, 32, was acquitted on a charge of helping in a $1,500,000 mail truck robbery in 1962 at Plymouth, Mass.

HONG KONG — British police Inspector F. G. Knight, kidnapped accidentally by Red Chinese farmers who didn't mean to push him across the Hong Kong border, escaped after 35 days. He said he was well treated.

VANCOUVER — Lawyer Joseph Molisson, one of two men accused in a whipping assault of a 34-year-old woman surrendered to police after failing to appear for trial last week.

BISMARCK, N.D. — Five youths who pleaded guilty to throwing eggs in a theatre were ordered by Judge Gerald Glaser to pay $10 fines and to write 1,000 times "I will not be a bad egg."

ATHENS — Former premier Panayiotis Pipilets, 68, a royal confidant, was sworn in as Greece's foreign minister. He is a member of the conservative National Radical Union.

Army Sends Bill To Absent GI

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (LST) — A former soldier who sat at home here waiting for orders from the army telling him where to report said Monday the army had billed him for the pay he got during his long wait.

John Brown, 24, said he waited for orders 223 days in 1966, during which he reported to nearby Fort MacArthur once a month, trying to get the army to decide where he should report.

"Everybody laughed until my time was up and I asked to be discharged," Brown said. "Now the army wants $1,238 I was paid."

Brown's experience with the army follows by a week the complaint of a Marysville, Calif., private first class who spent 18 months of his two-year hitch at home and who is now trying to be discharged.

According to the army records, Brown was sent a telegram in January, 1966, giving him his orders.

Brown eventually was discharged but with a notation that he had been absent on unauthorized leave for 223 days.

FAVOR EXECUTION — A survey shows that of the 3,000 Japanese questioned, 70 per cent favor death sentences for crimes that result in death. 16 per cent were opposed and the rest were noncommittal.

Mouth Lines Fade Away

The quicker mouth lines disappear, the quicker you'll look younger! You, too, may know the thrill of a second debut when you try 2nd Debut. The lotion-like substance containing CEF 600, Applied nightly and before daily make-up, 2nd Debut Liquid pushes so much moisture under the skin, it pushes mouth lines and crow's feet up and out. Make-up goes on smooth and easy. No wonder mothers say they're enjoying a 2nd Debut. You can also get "2nd Debut" with CEF 1200 for double strength moisturizing action. Ask for 2nd Debut by name at drug and department stores and see almost immediate results that are absolutely astonishing.

'I Have to Get Me Knee Up'

By KLAUS MUENTER

LADYSMITH — A 19-year-old truck driver from Vancouver tried in vain to save the life of an 82-year-old guest, when the Ross Hotel on the Trans-Canada highway burned to the ground early Monday.

Despite several attempts to get Peter Alfred Pearson from his third-storey room to the fire escape to safety, the retired carpenter perished in the flames.

Grabbed Clothes

Truck driver Roger MacClay was awakened at 3 a.m. by the hotel's fire alarm.

"I grabbed my clothes and ran downstairs," Sharon (Mrs. Peter Lind), the manager's wife, told me there were still people upstairs.

"I ran up again to wake the Italian fellow. He was still asleep.

"I screamed through the air vent because his door was locked and we ran back down stairs."

"Pete (hotel manager Peter Lind) told me the 'old fellow' is still upstairs."

"We couldn't see anything in the building."

"It was full of smoke and we climbed the fire escape."

"I saw a shadow of the window climber in and grabbed the old man. I tried to pull him out of the window."

"He had his head out of the window but he wouldn't come out. He resisted."

"I think he was scared. Smoke was pouring in all the time."

Still Working

While Lind and John Johnson had to back down, almost overcome by smoke, MacClay was still struggling to get the old man on the fire escape.

"The old man was moaning. 'I held the window open with one hand and with the other I tried to pull him out.'

"He said to me 'wait, I have to get me knee up.'

"Finally the trucker grabbed the old man by his belt but it broke."

Almost overcome by smoke himself, with the flames coming closer, MacClay backed away and climbed on the fire escape hoping the firemen would be able to save the old man.

Too Heavy

MacClay said "By then the old fellow was unconscious. He was too heavy for me."

Pearson's body was later recovered by firemen.

Seven guests, the manager, his wife and two children, Dale, 3, and Carl, 1, escaped the inferno, but they lost all their belongings.

Shortly after Mrs. Lind was awakened by smoke, she roused her husband, who set off the fire alarm and checked all the rooms.

He got Pearson out of his room and told him to go down the main stairs which were passable.

Pearson had been a permanent tenant at the hotel.

About the same time, while flames were eating into the back part of the old hotel, the family of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ajas, living close by, was awakened by the shouts of Allen Ajas.

"I hollered let's get out of here we're on fire. I don't know what woke me up."

"Maybe it was the fire reflecting in our windows. I thought our house was on fire. I put the children in the car and drove them to a friend of ours, Mrs. Lucia Hatten, after one of my girls, Barbara, rescued our dog and her puppy."

No Scream

"I am proud of my kids. There was no screaming and no panic."

The Ajas children are Loraine, 13, Barbara, 10, Debra, 8, and Randy, 6.

Ajas and his wife said "We just moved here from Parksville in July and we don't know too many people."

Ajas said "They sure have a good fire department and civil defence in this town."

"The fire department is the best I have ever seen in my life, and I have moved around a lot."

He said the Ladysmith volunteer fire brigade under deputy fire chief Bert Gilson was at the scene within minutes.

Stinging New Blow Given Shipbuilders

By GEORGE INGLE

Victoria's shipbuilding industry has been struck another stinging blow, a boiler-maker's union representative said Monday.

"We have learned that HMCS Chaudiere, which we hoped would be handled by Yarrows, is going to Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver," said Neil Hindle, business agent for Local 191 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Blacksmiths and Helpers.

"The unhappy part of this is that the contract was a negotiated contract, giving life to the thought that the affiliation between Yarrows and Burrard is not a good thing."

AFFILIATED

Mr. Hindle was referring to statements made recently, on the announcement of the closure of the Victoria Machinery Depot, to the effect that the move set up a West Coast shipbuilding monopoly, since Yarrows and Burrard are affiliated.

The Chaudiere, a Restigouche-class destroyer, is due for a fications. The Victoria shipbuilding industry had been hoping the contract would breathe life into the faltering industry.

'BLACK DAY'

"It is a black day for Victoria," Mr. Hindle said, "unless some of our politicians can get busy and do something about altering that negotiated contract and bringing the work here."

He said there were 220 men in his union out of work and becoming restless at the lack of prospects. Many of them had been inquiring about the prospects at Alameda, Calif., in shipyards that have been advertising in local newspapers.

"I talked with them in Alameda," the business agent said, "and they said 85 per cent of the work for boilermakers would be marine work."

FULL INFORMATION

Mr. Hindle said the Alameda yards were going to send full job information, and he expected to lose skilled craftsmen to them. Many of his local members have been discussing making a move.

He said a Canada Manpower representative had told him there was plenty of work at Collingwood and another Great Lakes shipyard.

"But does this make sense, for the government to spend money to uproot these families and send them away out there, when they could so easily arrange for some work to be done here?"

'WHY NOT DOCKYARD?'

Mr. Hindle said he thought the government was seeking "to make us a nation of migrants."

"We can go along with need for cutbacks," he said, "in the case of the Coast Guard cutter and Estevan replacement we did not get, but cannot see why the Chaudiere was not placed in HMC Dockyard if money is so tight."

"That would eliminate the profit motive entirely, and would still inject some life into the local shipbuilding industry."

SECOND LOOK

Mr. Hindle said he proposed to see Mayor Stephen today, to see if he could use his influence with Ottawa to have the Chaudiere reconversion held up for "a second look."

He said Victoria MP David Groos had told him Monday afternoon, "I find this is a negotiated contract now and there is nothing I can do about it."

Manpower Ready For Job Rush

The staff of the Victoria Manpower Centre has made special arrangements to cope with the Christmas rush at the post office.

Arrangements have been made for the centre to work from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday to complete Post Office applications.

"By this means we expect to serve the 450 women and 100 men required for this work in the shortest possible time, and in the same operation remove cause for delay during normal office hours for other clients of the Manpower Centre," said centre manager George Bevis.

Mr. Bevis said more women were required because the work called for the better manual dexterity of women.

"The majority of the men are required to handle mail sacks and other heavier work," he said.

Mr. Bevis said applicants should be prepared to work any shift. He added members of the armed forces on leave or other persons gainfully employed were not acceptable for these jobs.

Cox Tells Council:

Rounding Up Cats Quite An Expense

Animal lovers should take better care of their pets, Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox said Monday night.

"It's getting to be quite an expense for the provincial government to keep track of cats that other people breed," he told Oak Bay council.

The comment followed a report to council on activities of the SPCA in Greater Victoria during October.

The report said 107 stray cats were picked up, five of which were claimed and 17 given new homes.

The SPCA picked up 91 injured animals and wrote 29 warnings to owners of dogs at large in Oak Bay, Victoria and Esquimalt during the month.

The Oak Bay engineering department should give greater consideration to sidewalks, according to Eleanore and Albert Davidson, 244 Brighton.

In a letter to council Monday night, they asked why "the reconstruction program of Windsor Road should take precedence over the building of sidewalks?"

Council's B Committee last Wednesday decided Oak Bay work crews should embark on a $134,437 repair job to Windsor Road between Newport and Victoria Avenues.

ARCHAIC SYSTEM

The letter added: "Many of our Oak Bay streets are a hazard to pedestrians."

"Surely the archaic system of householders paying part of the cost of sidewalks has been abolished, so nothing should deter the municipality from completing this most necessary work."

Council submitted it to B Committee for study.

Also Monday night, council referred to its 1968 budget estimating committee a request by the Victoria Visitors' Bureau for $1,500 in 1968.

SCHOOL RENTALS

Council also authorized payment of $400 to the Oak Bay Recreation Commission for rental of school gymnasiums during 1967.

Eight stores of the Estevan Shopping Centre petitioned council against a proposed plan to link Hampshire Road with Cadboro Bay Road by cutting a new road over the Mountain View property.

The petition said the link "would have a detrimental effect on business in our shopping centre by isolating us from a good part of the traffic flow."

Two Guilty, One Acquitted

VANCOUVER (CP) — A supreme court jury Monday convicted two Canadian army soldiers of rape and acquitted a third soldier.

Samuel Wallace Conrad of New Waterford, N.S., and James Vernon Hannan of Fredericton, N.B., were convicted of raping a 17-year-old girl June 3 at a Vancouver beach. They were remanded for sentence.

James Bradford Bacon of Halifax was found not guilty.

The jury recommended lenience to both Hannan and Conrad.

Court was told the girl met the soldiers at a military tattoo and accompanied them to a nightclub and later to the beach.

Garden Notes

The Dividend Payers

By M. V. CHESNUT

One of the major problems in planting up a small garden is to find plants which are capable of paying the rent for the space they occupy.

In the larger layouts, we can afford to carry such brief bloomers as the lilac and the peony, indescribably beautiful for about ten days to two weeks, but nothing much to look at for the rest of the year. The smaller the garden, though, the more essential it is to look for plants which declare dividends two or even three times a year.

This thought was prompted by a graceful little tree which is in full view from the window in which I do my writing. It is Amelanchier canadensis, affectionately known as the Snowy Mesquit, and it is truly a triple-value plant.

Standing about 10 feet tall, it is sheathed in the spring with a snowy mass of white blossoms, making a lovely if short-lived display against the pinkish coloring of the expanding new leaves. This was followed in early summer by colorful berries in a purple-red shade, attracting many winged visitors, while the late, late show came earlier this month when the leaves turned a glorious light bronze, with here and there a patch of scarlet.

There are several triple-value plants among the viburnums. Their flat-headed trusses of blossoms are highly attractive, their berries color up well, and some kinds put on a brilliant display of autumn colors in the foliage.

Strangely enough, one of the best from this triple-dividend standpoint is the Wayfaring tree, Viburnum lentana, seldom planted in gardens but commonly used by nurserymen as a root-stock to carry grafts of the more exotic members of the viburnum family. It is a tree-like shrub, 10 to 12 feet tall when fully grown, carrying four-inch clusters of white blossoms in late June, berries which turn from brilliant red to glistening black, and flaming autumn foliage.

Beauty of both shape and color is seen in the foliage of Rhus cotinus, a member of the Sumac family commonly known as the Smoke tree. Here, the long-stalked leaves are pleasing in outline, almost transparent as the sun shines through them, and turning wine red in autumn.

There is an additional payoff, though, for as the bush approaches maturity, it will blossom with filmy inflorescences, pale pink at first, then turning to pinky-grey as summer blends into autumn, creating the lovely misty effect which inspired its nickname of Smoke Tree.

Probably the most commonly grown of all the three-act shrubs is the flowering currant, Ribes sanguineum. It is a fine shrub in all respects with drooping, many-flowered blossom clusters in red and bluish black berries. For even better value, though, it is worthwhile planting its cousin, the Golden currant, Ribes aureum.

This one bears trails of golden blossoms in spring, sweetly fragrant, followed by black fruits in summer. And for an annual epilogue, the foliage turns to a kaleidoscope of brilliant colors in the fall.

ART BUCHWALD Counsels Friend Kronig

Shut Up—and End the War

WASHINGTON — My good friend, Kronig, was a picture of despair.

"What's the matter, Kronig?" I wanted to know. "I can't help it," he said. "Every time I open my mouth I give aid and comfort to the enemy."

"But how?" I demanded. "I don't agree with President Johnson's policies in Vietnam. And he said that every time we say we don't agree with him, Hanoi is encouraged and wants to continue the war."

"That's true, Kronig," I said. "The president knows from whence he speaks. North Vietnam would probably be at the negotiating table right now if people like you didn't oppose President Johnson's policies."

"But that's just the point," Kronig cried. "I haven't opened my trap for six months and we're not anywhere nearer resolving the problem than we were before."

"You mean you haven't been loudly and openly opposing President Johnson on Vietnam for six months?"

"That's right," Kronig said.

"Six months ago I made a decision. I decided that according to Dean Rusk and Hubert Humphrey and President Johnson the only reason Hanoi would not cave in was because Ho Chi Minh thought the country was divided on our role in Vietnam. I took an oath not to say a word against President Johnson."

"I advocated stronger bombing, closing the port of Haiphong, defoliation of the demilitarized zone, building a wall between the borders — everything that Johnson wanted."

"I signed an advertisement supporting the joint chiefs of staff. I marched in the American Legion parade. And after doing all that, Hanoi still wouldn't come to the negotiating table."

"It's true, Kronig, that you have a right to be discouraged. But these things take time. You can't just stop criticizing President Johnson for six months and think the picture in Vietnam is going to change. This thing may take years."

"You mean I can't criticize President Johnson for years?"

"Not unless you want to give aid and comfort to the enemy," I said.

"But what about the elections in 1968?" Kronig said. "You have to be especially careful during the elections of 1968. You see, Kronig, Hanoi is going to be watching us very carefully in '68. If there is any indication that voters don't agree with President Johnson on Vietnam, then Hanoi will fight harder."

"The only way to deliver a defeat to the North Vietnamese is to elect President Johnson in a landslide."

"But what about the Republicans?" Kronig asked. "If they put up a candidate in 1968, won't they be giving aid and comfort to the enemy, too?"

"Yes, they will, Kronig, and this is what President Johnson is trying to tell them. If the Republicans would refrain from running anyone in 1968, Hanoi might cave in overnight."

"Why don't we pass up the elections in '68 altogether?" Kronig said.

"If this would shorten the war, President Johnson would probably be for it."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Frank Waits for Mia

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Frank Sinatra's film, The Detective, will close down. If necessary, to wait for Mia Farrow to complete her role in Rosemary's Baby. One idea had been to spring Mia for some filming with Frank in Connecticut, but her Rosemary boss, Paramount, nixed the idea. The picture will be finished in Hollywood and that makes it easier for everyone.

Jackie Gleason, the great one, is pressing Tiana Turner to sign for one of the middle-aged glamour girls in his upcoming movie, Let Me Count the Ways — the title is from the Elizabeth Barrett Browning love sonnet. What with owning a big hunk of the new Hilton Miami Hotel, Jackie can put the place on the map by shooting some of his picture there, the rest in Hollywood. It starts in March.

There have been exaggerated reports of the amount of money Barbra Streisand is earning for her $50,000,000 trio of films. A housewife who saw the books tells me Barbra's stipend for Funny Girl is $250,000. She was so eager to grab the film version she might have done it for nothing — not a quote, of course. With the next musical she signed for, On a Clear Day, another $100,000 was added. For Hello, Dolly! the pay was doubled — $700,000. If she clicks in all three, Barbra will join those rarefied few who receive $1,000,000 per film — Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Julie Andrews. Incidentally, if for any reason Miss Streisand does not do "Dolly," how about Lucille Ball? She was David Merrick's first choice for the musical on Broadway. I think Lucille would be the best of all the Dollies.

Swedish 18-year-old Pia Degermark, who won prizes and plaudits for her Elvira Madigan, caught up with Warren Beatty at Arthur in New York. Warren made a date to see her in Stockholm next month when he flies there for the premiere of Bonnie and Clyde.

Rex Harrison will turn director as soon as he finds something good to direct. But he won't do it. Unlike Jerry Lewis who likes to do both, Rex feels one job is enough.

Peter Lawford from Rome, where he is starring in Buona Sera, Mrs. Campbell, sent word to his real estate agents in Santa Monica to hurry up and sell the big house where he entertained the late President Kennedy. Pete plans to buy a house in London, an apartment in Los Angeles and a cottage in Honolulu.

I must pass this quote from Julie Newmar about her recent co-star Zero Mostel in Monsieur Le Coq. "He's a perfect person to work with. So generous." Julie, bewildered by the closing down of the film, told me, "It was the part of the year. I played all the female roles." Six of them, old and young. She is hoping to resume.

Think—and Fail!

SYDNEY HARRIS

A friend who has won many tennis championships remarked the other day that he had finally figured out why he plays better against good opponents than against mediocre ones.

"A good opponent," he said, "forces you to play a fast game. And in a fast game, you have no time to think. And when you have no time to think, you commit fewer errors!"

I believe him. The ultimate object of any art or craft is to go beyond thinking. The best typists type unthinkingly, their fingers moving almost ahead of their minds; the best pianists streak across the notes without thinking of them as notes, only as a continuum of music.

To achieve excellence in almost any pursuit, the unconscious mind must be allowed to take over. But this can be done only after long practice and tedious training.

And the whole paradox of arts and crafts (including sports) lies in the fact that the ultimate end of discipline is freedom — but a far different kind of freedom than that of the beginner or the amateur, who has not yet mastered the discipline. The conscious mind is a slow and cumbersome thing: before it can decide how to return a volley down the sideline, the ball has already gone past. It is only when the body has "learned to think," in a sense, that it responds far faster than any mental process could. It is the reflex of the total personality that makes champions, not one or another element of skill.

Racing drivers are perhaps most of all aware of this deep truth. All of the top ones drive as well as one another, in a technical sense; they all "know" the same skills and have perfected the same techniques.

What makes a Stirling Moss stand out from the rest, however, is an immediate access to his unconscious, so that he acts in a crisis without a millisecond's hesitation — the difference between life and death.

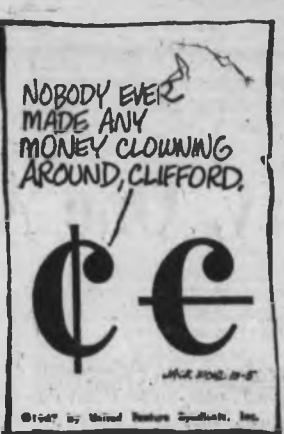

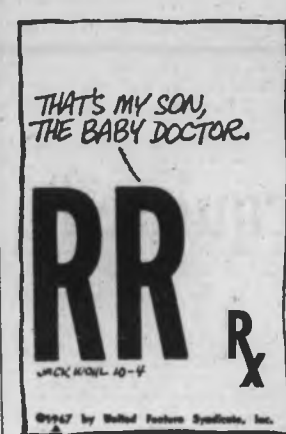

And even ordinary drivers cannot drive a car well until they no longer have to think about what they are doing, until the unconscious part of the mind takes over, to guard them from sudden accidents. Good "driver education" must be mostly psychological, or it is wasted effort — as all purely "technical" education is largely wasted.

Learning is a form of discovery, not just an accumulation of facts or postures; discovery by the total personality of the way to tap the hidden possibilities in body, mind and spirit, and make them work for us. This is why the champion seems to do it so easily.

Viet Cong Camp Found in Cambodia

The U.S. command for years has charged that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces find sanctuary in neighboring Cambodia, charges which Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has repeatedly denied. Western newspaper men were admitted to Cambodia to cover the visit of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, two Associated Press men went to the border across from War Zone C, which they have covered from the South Vietnamese side.

By GEORGE MCARTHUR and HORST FAAS

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The discovery of a Viet Cong camp site four miles inside Cambodia has angered Prince Norodom Sihanouk and raised doubts about his past denials that Vietnamese Communist forces were given sanctuary in his country.

Cambodia's ruling prince is said to regard the discovery by American newspaper men as a fabrication and part of a campaign against him by the U.S. press.

STAGING AREA

We found the Viet Cong camp, recently used, on the border opposite War Zone C, about 70 miles northwest of Saigon. It had been used for several months and probably was a staging area for the Loc Ninh battle, only nine miles away, earlier this month.

The prince, who contends the United States is the aggressor in Vietnam, is reported to have told intimates our reports were part of a campaign inspired by the U.S. command in Saigon to justify military operations against Cambodia.

CAUTIOUS REACTION

We informed Prime Minister Son Sann of the camp site before the stories were published.

lished. His initial reaction was cautious and he said he would make an official investigation.

Evidence of Viet Cong occupancy found in the camp included military records written in Vietnamese, North Vietnamese medical supplies and similar items. Dated scraps of paper indicated the camp had been used for several months dating back to last February.

JUNGLE ROAD

There were unmistakable signs that several hundred men had used the camp. Occupants had left only a few days before.

From the camp a heavily travelled road went through the dense jungle to the frontier, crossing it nine miles from Loc Ninh. Logs had been put down to counteract the monsoon mud. Tracks indicated heavy trucks had used it.

One embarrassed young lieutenant escorting us said perhaps the road was used by timber thieves. Another suggested it was built by the forestry department.

BORDER SITES

American officers have charged for years that the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese use Cambodia as a sanctuary when the going gets too rough for them.

American authorities in Vietnam have pinpointed at least 20 permanent camp sites, many of them are in a five-mile area adjoining the border where the

Active Red Cross Worker

Pioneer Teacher Dies at 91

Victoria-born Miss Frances A. Brown who spent most of her life as a teacher and an active member of the Canadian Red Cross Society died Sunday at 91.

Miss Brown was born in the family home on Fort Street just above Cook. She received her education in public schools, and won the Governor-General's medal for the highest marks of the first graduation class from Victoria's High School in 1895.

She taught in South Park School, and later in the Girls' Central School where she remained for 36 years.

Much of her life was spent in charitable work, especially with the Canadian Red Cross Society. She was a volunteer worker during the First World War and became an active member in with the flag of the Canadian Red Cross Society during charge of the workroom after she retired from teaching. She retired from the Red Cross a week ago.

Miss Brown lived for 50 years in the same apartment at the corner of Fort and Cook Street. The casket will be draped with the flag of the Canadian Red Cross Society during funeral services in Christ Church Cathedral at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Miss Brown is survived by a nephew, Alvin Brown, Nanaimo; and close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Fletcher and Miss Margaret Fletcher.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Two more candidates filed Monday for seats on Saanich council. They are Mrs. Leslie Belfit and Lionel Speller. Four seats will be contested at the election on Dec. 9. William Noel, whose term expires this year, has filed his papers. Couns. Edith Gunning and William Campbell have indicated they will also file.

Mrs. Belfit is a housewife and a veterinary assistant and lives at 1891 San Juan.

Mr. Speller, a former member of Saanich police commission, has been a candidate for council several times.

A third try for Victoria Council will be made by Fred Bevis, 70, a retired electrician of 601 Richmond. Mr. Bevis was the former NDP president in Victoria.

The application of Henry Eng for rezoning of 22 acres in Blenkinsop Valley for use as a golf course and driving range was tabled Monday night by Saanich council.

Council voted to table the application until a study of the Blenkinsop Valley is completed by Saanich planning and engineering departments.

The motion also suggested that the study of the valley be made a priority item.

Trustees Consider Health Service

The Greater Victoria School Board will investigate setting up its own independent health service.

On a motion by trustee Frances Thompson, the board voted to set up a committee which will investigate the cost and terms of reference of a school health service.

Opposition by Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen to inclusion of school trustees on a proposed regional health board was given as the reason for the board's move.

Mrs. Thompson said the Greater Victoria school district now pays about $100,000 a year for health services to the 30,000 school children. The Metro health board supplies the service.

A special task force is being formed to push the campaign of the United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal over the top.

"In all other major Canadian cities where the Red Cross has joined the United Appeal, the campaigns have been markedly successful," chairman Gil Auchincloss said Monday.

The appeal is still short about $18,000, the chairman said.

The task force will canvass various weak spots in the campaign.

The McRae family and Saanich municipality are "moving closer together" in the purchase of the family's estate of approximately 130 acres for recreational purposes.

Reeve Hugh Curtis made the announcement Monday night following a committee session after the regular council meeting.

Two more candidates filed Monday for seats on Saanich council. They are Mrs. Leslie Belfit and Lionel Speller.

Four seats will be contested at the election on Dec. 9.

William Noel, whose term expires this year, has filed his papers. Couns. Edith Gunning and William Campbell have indicated they will also file.

Fifteen

Alive

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines four-engine jet, pressed into service when a sister plane developed a malfunction, crashed in an apple orchard while on a landing approach to the Greater Cincinnati Airport Monday night. Sixty-two of the 79 persons aboard were believed to have been killed.

The plane, a Convair 440, crashed in Hebron, Ky., six miles south and across the Ohio River from Cincinnati. Survivors were taken to St. Elizabeth's General Hospital and Booth Hospital in Covington, Ky.

SMALL CHILDREN

There were three at Booth, all in serious condition.

Ralph Kinross, assistant administrator at St. Elizabeth's, said 17 persons were taken there from the crash. He said three died after admission and the others were in serious condition. The survivors included a five-year-old boy and two infant girls, one aged two, the other 15 months.

The craft was TWA flight 128 non-stop from Los Angeles to Cincinnati and carried 72 passengers and a crew of seven. It crashed on the farm of B. S. Wagner, a short distance from where an American Air-

Stanfield and Douglas Press House Tests

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield made his debut as a Commons orator Monday with a 55-minute attack on government economic policies. He said the Liberal government of economic mismanagement, saying it had lost the capacity to shape long-term policies and could only react to events as they happen.

NDP Leader Douglas followed with his own motion of no-confidence and joined in the attack on Finance Minister Sharp's announced plan to impose temporary tax increases later this month.

VOTE TONIGHT

The two motions came at the opening of a two-day supply debate which quickly shaped up as a debate on the economy, set against the background of the impending tax increases, question over the future of medical care insurance and Britain's weekend devaluation of the pound. Both motions will be voted on tonight.

Mr. Sharp responded to the attacks Monday evening with an appeal to Mr. Stanfield to support the "hard decisions" the government has to face for the good of the economy.

'GROWTH ENDANGERED'

He said it was policies similar to those advocated by the NDP that had made it necessary for Britain to devalue the pound.

Mr. Stanfield's non-confidence motion declared that the Commons "regrets that the mismanagement by this government has endangered the rate of economic growth, the prospects of a satisfactory level of employment, and the ability of individual Canadians to meet their own commitments."

The NDP motion, among other things, called on the government to establish an investment board to set priorities for public and private investment.

Hijacking

Plane Lands In Cuba

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The pilot of a twin-engine plane chartered for a flight to the Bahamas was forced into Communist Cuba Monday by an armed passenger he described as a Russian.

"This man is armed and he intends to take this plane to Havana," the pilot, J. V. Raymond of Pompano Beach, radioed shortly after takeoff from Hollywood.

'COLLECTING WIFE'

The message was received by the Federal Aviation Administration at Miami as Raymond was flying southward toward the Florida Straits. The FAA reported the plane's arrival in Havana.

George NeSmith of Crescent Airways in Hollywood said the Piper Apache 23 was rented by a man who identified himself as Felix S. Marisy and said he wanted to go to Bimini, 60 miles east of Miami, to pick up his wife.

FIGHTERS TURN OFF

"Two fighter jets from Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami were scrambled up to head off the plane but fell back when the hijacker went on the radio and warned he would kill the pilot and co-pilot Jeff White if the interceptors did not get off his tail.

A spokesman for the Swiss Embassy in Havana said later the American flyers were unharmed and probably would return to the United States today. The Swiss, who act for the United States in such matters in Havana, said they had been notified of the plane's arrival by the Cuban Foreign Ministry but declined to give further details.

Victoria Trio Arrested

GOLDEN, B.C. (CP) — Three young Victorians are under arrest here in connection with the reported abduction of a Calgary man Sunday at knife-point.

Floyd Yeats, 40, of Calgary, told police the three jumped into his car outside a church and forced him to drive to the B.C. border.

Near Golden he jumped from the moving car as it slowed for a turn, suffering only minor cuts and scratches. The car was found abandoned 14 miles west of here.

Charged with robbery and awaiting return to Calgary, are Barry J. Cragg, 23; Wesley L. Braham, 19, and Melvin J. Cardy, 18.

Refugee Camp Shelled

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Israeli tanks and artillery shelled a Jordanian refugee camp for more than an hour Monday, killing 14 persons and wounding 28 others, a Jordanian military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said three children were among those killed in the shelling on the Karami refugee camp on the east bank of the Jordan River. Among the wounded were seven children and three women, he said.

An Israeli army spokesman announced in Jerusalem that an Israeli soldier was injured Monday when an army command car ran over a mine planted on a dusty road 1.5 miles south of Um Short.

Diaper Service Foils Robbers

No Sweet Smell of Success

MONTREAL (CP) — It was enough to make criminals give up crime.

As police told it Monday, weekend safe-crackers broke into the midtown Wee Folks Diaper Service and faced a chain of straight bad luck.

Once in, they found the watchman still on duty and had to hide in a cold shed of dirty diapers. When the watchman left, they made their way down a chute of dirty diapers and found themselves in the wrong part of the premises.

So, police said, they knocked out a wall with sledgehammers to get into the office area.

But they could not crack the safe. It was hauled to one truck in the garage, but the truck wouldn't start. Then it was hauled to another, and that one wouldn't start either.

In a final effort, they dragged the safe to the garage door where, it seems, they just gave up. And they were too tired to take their safe-cracking tools with them.

Police said the safe contained "very little."

VMD Workers Again Head List

Christmas is just five weeks away, and in most Victoria homes, Christmas preparations are already in progress. Cakes, puddings and shortbread are melting on the topmost shelf, and immigrants with families overseas have mailed their gifts back home.

At Victoria Machinery Depot, it's a long-standing tradition to be first with one particular pre-Christmas gift, and that's why when the mail arrived at the Colonist office Monday morning, the annual donation from the Employees' Community Welfare Fund was there to be first on the list for this year's Colonist 500 Fund.

This is the 11th year that The Daily Colonist has acted as an agency to make the festive season a happier one for destitute families, for whom Christmas preparations are part of another world.

Four other donations were received on the opening day, and were added to money received after the appeal closed last year, and held over for this year's fund, to produce a first-day total of $677.37.

Donations can be brought in personally to the Colonist office, or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria. If more convenient, donations may also be left at the Avis Rent-A-Car office, 800 Douglas Street.

Orange Dealers Fined $98,500

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fines totalling $98,500 were imposed Monday on 10 companies convicted in September of conspiring to unduly lessen competition in the Mandarin orange trade.

The companies had pleaded not guilty to the charge, laid under the Federal Combines Act. Mr. Justice J. G. Gould of the B.C. Supreme Court imposed the fines.

The heaviest penalties, $18,000 each, were levied against Kelly Douglas and Company Ltd., and W. H. Malkin Ltd., two firms with previous convictions in 1955.

LESSER AMOUNTS

Fines of $10,000 each were imposed on Consolidated Fruit Co. Ltd., Slade and Stewart Ltd., and Dominion Fruit Co. Ltd.

Canada Safeway Ltd., MacDonald's Consolidated Ltd., and David McNeil and Co. Ltd. were fined $7,500 each. Fines of $5,000 each were imposed on Chess Brothers Ltd. and Birks Crawford Ltd., an eastern firm which the court said was near insolvency.

Mr. Justice Gould said when he found the firms guilty that although they had engaged in a conspiracy, their conduct in controlling the Mandarin orange trade was eminently sensible.

'Let's See Results!'

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Magistrate Eric Winch said Monday the federal government is not discharging its duty to the Indians on reserves.

He referred specifically to Reserve Two in Cedar, saying:

"The federal government better start giving some thought to the drinking that's going on out there."

It's a federal responsibility and they better get some results.

It's about time they started discharging their responsibility.

He had just received a guilty plea from Paul White, 19, who admitted failing to repay $83.50 which he had stolen May 27 from Nanaimo Little League, failed to devote evenings to the organization, was seen in an establishment which sells liquor, which were all part of his suspended sentence terms for the theft.

● He had also terrorized his younger sisters throughout the weekend of Nov. 3, 4, and 5, lost his job due to drinking, and put his father and uncle into the hospital with injuries from fighting.

● On Aug. 6, he was fined $375 for dangerous driving.

Probation officer Bevan Savory told court, "He's becoming a great danger to society."

Mr. Winch sentenced Mr. White to six months in Oakalla, with a recommendation for transfer to Allouette.

Police Describe Violent Fight During Night Arrest of Pair

NANAIMO — An RCMP officer admitted kneeling a man in the head, during his County Court testimony.

Constable Rod Derouin was one of the arresting officers Sept. 19, shortly after midnight, when David Victor Gilmore and Walter Lloyd Nelson were arrested and charged with breaking and entering and wounding with intent to do bodily harm.

He said he chased Mr. Gilmore after Gilmore and Constable Terrence Christiansen had scuffled.

dark into a cul de sac behind Al MacLean's Service Centre Limited, collaring his man at a basement entrance to an auto court.

Asked if the apprehended man fell during the ensuing struggle, Constable Derouin answered, "Only after I hit him."

He was then asked how Gilmore's eye was damaged.

"My knee hit him in the head," answered the officer.

"I felt it was the only thing I could do," he explained, adding he felt that force used was only enough to subdue his man.

His fellow officer, Constable Christiansen, had come to the scene after a call from Mrs. Hermine Jeeves, 611 First Street, who noticed a car pull up near the garage, with its lights out.

The two officers separated, with Constable Christiansen finding a man crouched by the suspicious car.

Constable Christiansen said, "He jumped out and attacked me and started hitting me with this object he had in his hand at the time."

A chisel was found at the scene of the fight.

After subduing his man, Constable Derouin was assisted by two other officers in putting Gilmore into the police car, where the officers had to sit on him.

At the RCMP detachment, "It took five officers to put him into the cells," testified Constable Derouin.

The trial continues, with Judge H. C. MacKay presiding, Ralph Hutchinson Crown counsel, William Verchere counsel for Nelson, and Glen Sinclair counsel for Gilmore.

Dirty Detail Brings That Special Blush

NANAIMO — U.S. Judge John E. Santora started a program of sentencing juveniles to embarrassing punishments, as suggested by a group of teenage jurors. He claims 99 per cent of their suggestions are used, and that a 50 per cent reduction in teenage crime has resulted in his area of Jacksonville, Florida.

He also said that 200 cities have adopted the system.

On the island the same system has been used to a smaller degree.

Magistrates Eric Winch and Stan Wardill call the system the "sanitary squad", but three youths, in an interview, referred to it as the "dirty detail."

The squad must clean RCMP vehicles every Saturday, rain, shine or special event.

Magistrate Winch comes up with many more fitting lukes.

In a conversation with the three youths mentioned earlier, the fairness of the system was disclaimed.

"They have no right," claimed one, adding, "I don't think it's legal."

Finally, he admitted his objection was actually that the punishment was too embarrassing.

Asked if he would care to repeat being on the dirty detail, he answered, "Hell no!"

He answered the same when asked if he would repeat the offence for which he had been assigned to the cleaning chore.

Magistrate Winch said offenders who repeat (there are very few) show signs of change.

He said the first show leadership over the new youths, telling them how the job should be done.

The rare third offender finds the police are humans, and a rapport between himself and "the fuzz" begins, as does a new mutual respect.

Internationals Under Fire

NANAIMO — The fight of the Canadian pulp union against international unionism, will be vigorously assisted by the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions.

CNTU national Rene Cormier spoke at the pulp union's convention here, and said his group and the pulp men have a common bond, the fight against international unionism.

● But the attack on internationalism was toned down by the arrival of another guest, Del Pratt of the International Woodworkers of America.

He was credited by a press release from the convention with having sympathized with 330 Canadian pulp union men thrown out of work at Castlegar when an IWA mill was struck.

He is credited with having promised financial support to those without unemployment insurance benefits.

● Weldon Jubenville, IWA Local 1-80, pledged support of his local.

Mr. Pratt expressed satisfaction with the tendency of both unions to co-operate, adding that fellowship in negotiations probably would lead into 1968.

● During the convention nominations for officers were made, with Orville Braaten remaining by acclamation as president.

Gordon Wickham was placed by acclamation as first vice-president in charge of organization.

Braaten

tion, succeeding Angus McPhee who declined to run for that office.

Mr. McPhee has chosen instead to run for financial and recording secretary against Mitch Chenoff, Castlegar, and Charlie Oldale, Nanaimo.

Second vice-president nominees are Frank Jameson, Crofton, Reg Ginn, Woodfibre, and Reg Young, Nanaimo.

Elections will be held Dec. 6, 7, and 8 by the membership at large throughout all locals, by secret ballot.

● The Canadian union embraces pulp mills at Castlegar, Crofton, Woodfibre, Nanaimo, Gold River and is presently attempting to include Prince George, but was refused certification by the Labor Relations Board. The union claims to have 94 per cent of the workers there in favor of joining the Canadian union.

The union also includes workers in 12 converting industries which make bags, boxes and tissue; plastic companies; and two chemical plants, Ercor, Vancouver, and Dow, Ladner.

Presently negotiations are proceeding to include Hooker Chemical at Harnam, with all operational crews having indicated their desire to join the Canadian union.

● Howard Sullivan, Local 5, Vancouver, national executive board member, said "They come and ask if they can join, because we're a Canadian union."

"We do not feel we have the right to deny them if they so desire," he said in reference to chemical industry workers joining the pulp union.

● Mr. Braaten, after the convention said, of relations with CNTU, "We'll continue to exchange data and information with CNTU, in reference to industry there."

"We will co-operate with any union that will co-operate with us, on programs that will build good unionism."

He predicted, "I have no doubt that we will be the major union in the pulp industry before too long."

"If we could get a free, secret ballot vote in these mills right now, we'd leap ahead tremendously."

He said one of the reasons for acceptance of the Canadian union is, "There's lots of control from the membership."

● He added that executive members were placed in office by rank and file vote, not at a board meeting as is the case with some international unions.

He said the convention had set up committees to study apprenticeship programs for maintenance mechanics and for pension plans.

Duncan School Plans Wiped Out

DUNCAN — Members of the Cowichan School Board will meet with the minister of education to convince him of the importance of two major school building projects.

The board two weeks ago submitted sketch plans for school additions at Mount Prevost Junior High School and Cowichan High School totalling $500,000.

The expected approval from the department to go ahead with working drawings, did not come.

Instead the department advised the board it is "not prepared to authorize these two major projects to proceed to the working drawing stage."

The department expressed concern about "excessive cost increases by school boards in carrying out projects in recent years."

"We believe it is necessary to question these increases and to investigate ways and means by which school boards may give direction to their architects which will lead to cost-saving."

Before giving approval the department requests proof from the schools boards that all possible saving devices have been explored, for instance combination of design, provision for alternate performance specifications, construction techniques and bidding methods.

Trustee Joseph Frumento suggested following the letter and supplying the proof that the additions are very necessary.

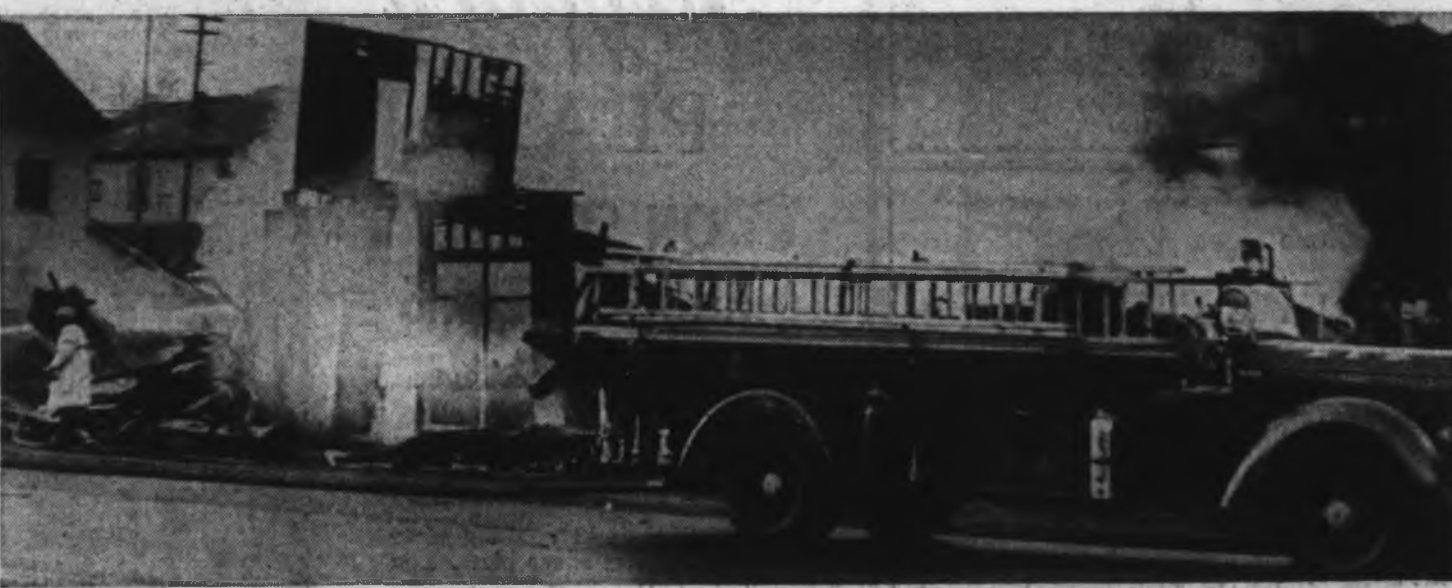

The board learned the Indian Department will contribute $138,800 to the total cost at Mount Prevost Junior High School.

A considerable number of elementary students who are now on swing shift will soon have regular classes when the new Roome Road School and additions at the Khowhemun Elementary School will be completed early next month.

Lane Road Elementary School is scheduled for opening early next year.

The board agreed with Trustee Jack Efford to name the new schools after well-known residents who during their lifetime contributed to the community.

'I Have to Get Me Knee Up'

By KLAUS MUENTER

LADYSMITH — A 19-year-old truck driver from Vancouver tried in vain to save the life of an 82-year-old guest, when the Ross Hotel on the Trans-Canada highway burned to the ground early Monday.

Despite several attempts to get Peter Alfred Pearson from his third-storey room to the fire escape to safety, the retired carpenter perished in the flames.

Grabbed Clothes

Truck driver Roger MacClay was awakened at 3 a.m. by the hotel's fire alarm.

"I grabbed my clothes and ran downstairs."

"Sharon (Mrs. Peter Lind), the manager's wife, told me there were still people upstairs."

"I ran up again to wake the Italian fellow. He was still asleep."

"I screamed through the air vent because his door was locked and we ran back downstairs."

"Pete (hotel manager Peter Lind) told me the 'old fellow' is still upstairs."

"We couldn't see anything in the building."

"It was full of smoke and we climbed the fire escape."

"I smashed the window, climbed in and grabbed the old man. I tried to pull him out of the window."

"He had his head out of the window but he wouldn't come out. He resisted."

"I think he was scared. Smoke was pouring in all the time."

Still Working

While Lind and John Johnson had to back down, almost was still struggling to get the old man on the fire escape.

"The old man was moaning."

"I held the window open with one hand and with the other I tried to pull him out."

"He said to me 'wait, I have to get me knee up.'"

Finally the trucker grabbed the old man by his belt but it broke.

Almost overcome by smoke himself, with the flames coming closer, MacClay backed away and climbed on the fire escape hoping the firemen would be able to save the old man.

Too Heavy

MacClay said "By then the old fellow was unconscious. He was too heavy for me."

Pearson's body was later recovered by firemen.

Seven guests, the manager, his wife and two children, Dale, 3, and Carl, 1, escaped the inferno, but they lost all their belongings.

Shortly after Mrs. Lind was awakened by smoke, she roused her husband, who set off the fire alarm and checked all the rooms.

He got Pearson out of his room and told him to go down the main stairs which were passable.

Flames Spread

Pearson had been a permanent tenant at the hotel.

About the same time, while flames were eating into the back part of the old hotel, the family of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ajas, living close by, was awakened by the shouts of Allen Ajas.

"I hollered let's get out of here we're on fire. I don't know what woke me up."

"Maybe it was the fire reflecting in our windows. I thought our house was on fire. I put the children in the car and drove them to a friend of ours."

Mrs. Lucia Hutton, after one of my girls, Barbara, rescued our dog and her puppy.

No Screaming

"I am proud of my kids. There was no screaming and no panic."

The Ajas children are Loraine, 13, Barbara, 10, Debra, 8, and Randy, 6.

Ajas and his wife said "We just moved here from Parksville in July and we don't know too many people."

Ajas said "They sure have a good fire department and civil defence in this town."

The fire department is based in the fire hall in my life, and I have moved around a lot."

He said the Ladysmith volunteer fire brigade under deputy fire chief Bert Gilson was at the scene within minutes.

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines four-engine jet, pressed into service when a sister plane developed a malfunction, crashed in an apple orchard while on a landing approach to the Greater Cincinnati Airport Monday night. Sixty-two of the 79 persons aboard were believed to have been killed.

The plane, a Convair 880, crashed in Hebron, Ky., six miles south and across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Survivors were taken to St. Elizabeth's General Hospital and Booth Hospital in Covington, Ky.

SMALL CHILDREN

There were three at Booth, all in serious condition.

Ralph Kinross, assistant administrator at St. Elizabeth's, said 17 persons were taken there from the crash. He said three died after admission and the others were in serious condition. The survivors included a five-year-old boy and two infant girls, one aged two, the other 15 months.

The craft was TWA flight 128 non-stop from Los Angeles to Cincinnati and carried 72 passengers and a crew of seven.

It crashed on the farm of B. S. Wagner, a short distance from where an American Airlines jet crashed last week.

Stanfield and Douglas Press House Tests

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield made his debut as a Commons orator Monday with a 65-minute attack on government economic policies climaxed by a motion of no confidence in the government.

In his typically quiet-spoken way, the new Conservative chief accused the Liberal government of economic mismanagement, saying it had lost the capacity to shape long-term policies and could only react to events as they happen.

NDP Leader Douglas followed with his own motion of no-confidence, and joined in the attack on Finance Minister Sharp's announced plan to impose temporary tax increases later this month.

Mr. Sharp responded to the attacks Monday evening with an appeal to Mr. Stanfield to support the "hard decisions" the government has to face for the good of the economy.

Mr. Stanfield's non-confidence motion declared that the Commons "regrets that the mismanagement by this government has endangered the rate of economic growth, the prospects of a satisfactory level of employment, and the ability of individual Canadians to meet their own commitments."

The NDP motion, among other things, called on the government to establish an investment board to set priorities for public and private investment.

Victoria Trio Arrested

GOLDEN, B.C. (CP) — Three young Victorians are under arrest here in connection with the reported abduction of a Calgary man Sunday at knife-point.

Floyd Yeats, 40, of Calgary, told police the three jumped into his car outside a church and forced him to drive to the B.C. border.

Near Golden he jumped from the moving car as it slowed for a turn, suffering only minor cuts and scratches. The car was found abandoned 14 miles west of here.

Charged with robbery and awaiting return to Calgary are Barry J. Craig, 23; Wesley L. Braham, 19, and Melvin J. Cardy, 18.

Refugee Camp Shelled

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Israeli tanks and artillery shelled a Jordanian refugee camp for more than an hour Monday, killing 14 persons and wounding 28 others, a Jordan military spokesman reported.

The spokesman said three children were among those killed in the shelling of the Karami refugee camp on the east bank of the Jordan River. Among the wounded were seven children and three women, he said.

An Israeli army spokesman announced in Jerusalem that an Israeli soldier was injured Monday when an army command car ran over a mine planted on a dusty road 1.5 miles south of Um Short.

Plane Lands In Cuba

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The pilot of a twin-engine plane chartered for a flight to the Bahamas was forced into Communist Cuba Monday by an armed passenger he described as a Russian.

"This man is armed and he intends to take this plane to Havana," the pilot, J. V. Raymond of Pompano Beach, radioed shortly after takeoff from Hollywood.

'COLLECTING WIFE'

The message was received by the Federal Aviation Administration at Miami as Raymond was flying southward toward the Florida Straits. The FAA reported the plane's arrival in Havana.

George Nesmith of Crescent Airways in Hollywood said the Piper Apache 23 was rented by a man who identified himself as Felix S. Marisy and said he wanted to go to Bimini, 60 miles east of Miami, to pick up his wife.

FIGHTERS TURN OFF

"Two fighter jets from Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami were scrambled up to head off the plane but fell back when the hijacker went on the radio and warned he would kill the pilot and co-pilot Jeff White if the interceptors did not get off his tail."

A spokesman for the Swiss Embassy in Havana said later the American flyers were unharmed and probably would return to the United States today. The Swiss, who act for the United States in such matters in Havana, said they had been notified of the plane's arrival by the Cuban Foreign Ministry but declined to give further details.

Labor Under Fire While Britons Weigh Mini-Pound

LONDON (CP) — The Labor government came under sharp attack Monday as Britons started to size up the pocketbook of the cut-price pound. Shopkeepers warned that prices will rise though some suggested the big boosts won't come until after Christmas.

Scotch Price To Drop

Devaluation of the British pound might bring Scotch whisky in B.C. into approximately the same price range as rye—about 60 to 75 cents a bottle cheaper—it was learned here Monday.

Attorney General Robert Bonner said the new prices would go into effect as soon as the new flat is drawn up and approved by the cabinet, possibly today.

Imported gins, rum, liqueurs, some wines and beers and ales from Britain are included in categories where price cuts are anticipated.

Sailors Reach Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Four American sailors who deserted the U.S. aircraft carrier Intrepid last month in Japan turned up in Moscow Monday and appeared on Soviet television to denounce American involvement in Vietnam.

The four were identified as Craig William Anderson, San Jose, Calif.; John Michael Barilla, Catonsville, Md.; Richard D. Bailey, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Michael A. Linder, Mount Pocono, Pa.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the four travelled from Tokyo to Moscow to "prove that there are real Americans with a high sense of moral responsibility who are also against the war."

'REMOVE TROOPS'

Barilla said he and Linder had both joined the navy because they wanted to avoid the draft.

Bailey told the Moscow television audience that "if the Americans want peace in Vietnam, they could simply remove their troops and equipment and let the Vietnamese people govern themselves."

Bailey said the American troops don't even know who their enemies are in Vietnam. And he said the Americans are making more enemies every day.

VMD Workers Again Head List

Christmas is just five weeks away, and in most Victoria homes, Christmas preparations are already in progress. Cakes, puddings and shortbread are mellowing on the topmost shelf, and immigrants with families overseas have mailed their gifts back home.

At Victoria Machinery Depot, it's a long-standing tradition to be first with one particular pre-Christmas gift, and that's why when the mail arrived at the Colonist office Monday morning, the annual donation from the Employees' Community Welfare Fund was there to be first on the list for this year's $500 fund.

This is the 11th year that The Daily Colonist has acted as an agency to make the festive season a happier one for destitute families, for whom Christmas preparations are part of another world.

Four other donations were received on the opening day, and were added to money received after the appeal closed last year, and held over for this year's fund, to produce a first-day total of $677.37.

Donations can be brought in personally to the Colonist offices, or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria. If more convenient, donations may also be left at the Avis Rent-A-Car office, 800 Douglas Street.
